Hornet's Nest Over Quebec

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal cabinet landed in the middle of a political hornet's nest Wednesday by announcing it will advise the Queen to agree to the Quebec cabinet's request to limit the powers of the province's legislative council.

Opposition Leader Dief-Baker and New Democrat Leader Douglas came out swinging hard at acting prime minister Martin's announcement. Social Credit Leader Thompson attacked the government for not letting Parliament rule on the cabinet's decision first.

Creditable spokesman Gilles Giguere advised Mr. Martin to "take this whole bunch of papers and send it right back to Quebec immediately. . . . Let them solve it."

POSSIBLE TROUBLE

The issue spelled possible trouble for the minority Liberal administration next Monday when one of the regular supply debates was scheduled by Mr. Martin to give the Commons a chance to debate it.

Threat debates afford the chance for the Opposition to move non-confidence motions.

THOMPSON AGREES

However, Mr. Thompson whose nine-member group has come to the government's rescue on crucial votes in the past agreed with one aspect of the government's decision—that the elected representatives of Quebec should decide the powers of their provincial legislative chambers.

The legislative council which opposes the Quebec Liberal government's plan to curb its powers is an appointed body dominated by the Union Nationale party.

NO RIGHT

Liberal applause at Mr. Thompson's stand was somewhat dampened when he added he doesn't believe Quebec has a constitutional right to appeal directly to the Crown and such an appeal should first pass through Parliament.

Mr. Martin, acting Prime Minister Pearson who is in London at a Commonwealth prime ministers' conference, said the federal cabinet has "come to the conclusion the government should advise the Queen to act in this matter in accordance with the Commons' decision."

In Cache with Mangled Money

Police Radio Found, Too

VANCOUVER (CP)—A stolen two-way police radio was recovered last weekend with the bulk of the loot from the $1,250,000 mutilated money holdup, police disclosed Wednesday.

A spokesman said the $1,000 radio was found with the money in a rented garage in Victoria at 1041 Fairfield.

The radio was taken from a Vancouver police substation Nov. 25. There was no sign of forced entry.

"The finding of the radio seems to support the opinion of the chief (Ralph Booth) that whoever was responsible for the CPR warehouse robbery and the bank holdup was knowledgeable of police procedure," the spokesman said.

He said the radio was used by the four bandits in the Feb. 11 robbery of the mutilated currency.

All but $14,386 of the money—punched with three holes prior to its planned destruction by the Bank of Canada—has been recovered.

Police are investigating the possibility of a link between the mutilated money robbery and a $13,000 holdup of a Bank of Nova Scotia branch here Jan. 15.

Danube Swamps Four Countries

VIENNA (AP)—The Danube, flooding after weeks of heavy rains, swirled over dikes, crumpled homes and spilled over fertile farmlands in Austria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Yugoslavia Wednesday.

Tens of thousands were left homeless. Four persons are missing in Yugoslavia and believed drowned.

In Santo Domingo

From UPI, AP

SANTO DOMINGO — Heavy explosions and occasional gunfire reverberated here Wednesday as United Nations mediators sought to firm up the cease-fire which ended Tuesday's vicious fight between Dominican rebels and troops of the Inter-American peacekeeping force.

Canadians Staying On Cyprus

OTTAWA (UPI) — Acting prime minister Martin said Wednesday Canada has agreed to continue serving in the United Nations peace-keeping force on Cyprus for a "further six months."

Martin told the Commons Canada received a "formal request" for the continuation from the UN Security Council and "the government has decided to accept."

Martin is acting prime minister while Prime Minister Pearson is in London attending the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference.

Canada's 1,100-man contingent on the island will be "rotated" this fall when the 2nd Battalion, Canadian Guards, at Camp Petawawa, Ont., will replace the 1st Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Victoria.

One U.S. paratrooper was shot dead Wednesday, two other U.S. soldiers died of wounds suffered in Tuesday's battle between the inter-American peace force and the rebels.

Rebel leader Col. Francisco Caamaño Domo said 67 persons were killed and 265 wounded in the rebel sector in Tuesday's fighting.

He accused U.S. troops of "an act of genocide unprecedented in our country."

For more than three hours Wednesday, there was heavy firing along the northern corridor of the international security zone. Most of the shooting was centred a few blocks from the Ocampo River.

SNIPERS

U.S. paratroopers blasted at buildings in the crowded slum area where snipers were believed to be hiding.

The United States accused the Communist-dominated 14th of June movement in the Dominican Republic of responsibility for renewed fighting in Santo Domingo in which 21 Dominicans died.

Eagle-leather headdress and tribal name "Big Eagle" were given Governor General Vanier when Sarcee, Stony and Blackfoot tribes made him honorary chief. Ceremony took place during two-day stay in Calgary with Mme. Vanier.—(CP)

Defence Rap Brings Rap at Door

Her Bomb No Dud

OTTAWA (CP)—Ever since Ciel Saave decided last year she could easily bomb a multimillion dollar underground NORAD communications centre near her home at North Bay, Ont., things have been quietly hopping.

Mrs. Saave, in an article that was never printed, said after a tour of the base that its security was loose, civil defence in North Bay was a joke, and manned bomber detection was obsolete in a missile age.

She observed most North Bay residents didn't even hear the sirens during an civil defence drill.

NO CHECK
Mrs. Saave tried fruitlessly to check out her article with Air Vice-Marshal James Harvey, NORAD northern region commander.

Both Maclean's magazine and the Toronto Globe and Mail turned the article down.

But word of its undiluted criticism evidently aroused official interest.

RCMP AT DOOR

Last April 15, four months after the rejection, RCMP visited her home, questioned her about the article, then walked away with a file of work she had done.

Mrs. Saave said in an interview with Maclean's, who published details in their June 5 issue, she was scared stiff by a warning she had classified information and shouldn't publish the article.

Later, she recalled most of her facts had come from a standard press kit issued at the centre.

She also noted she called the North Bay civil defence number three times daily for three weeks before anyone answered the telephone.

Hardly any of this was mentioned in a terse justice department reply Wednesday in the Commons to select questions by David Orlow (NDP—Winnipeg North).

The written reply said a Staff Sgt. Linden of the RCMP questioned her but didn't search her home, although he had a search warrant.

NOT INFORMED

Denied was her contention more than one Mountie was there, and that she was warned against publishing the article.

She turned over "her complete file and manuscripts" voluntarily, it said.

Mrs. Saave hadn't been informed of her rights, it said. The correspondence Sgt. Linden had taken has been returned, it added.

Nothing was said about NORAD, the communications centre or the reason for the RCMP visit.

LOW-YIELD TEST 14th THIS YEAR

WASHINGTON (AP)—A low-yield nuclear test, the equivalent of less than 20,000 tons of TNT, was set off underground Wednesday at the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission's Nevada test site.

It was the 14th weapons-related experiment the AEC has announced this year.

Pearson Plea:

FORGET PAST IN VIET NAM

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson said he hopes the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference opening today will concentrate on future solutions and not on past wrongs in its debate on the Viet Nam fighting.

The Canadian prime minister's plea came Wednesday night when he was joined in a BBC television appearance by Britain's Prime Minister Wilson, Malaysia's Tunji Abdul Rahman, Nigeria's Sir Abacha Tafawa Balewa and Uganda's Milton Obote. (See also Page 5, 48.)

Asked by interviewer Robin Day what the 21-country conference might "say or do" about the bitter war involving the United States in Southeast Asia, Pearson replied:

PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT

"I hope it will avoid doing one thing, and that is to wrangle over who is primarily responsible for what has happened in Viet Nam, and that it will concentrate on what can be done to bring about a peaceful and negotiated settlement."

Pearson said the conference should look to the future rather than the past, and "I think there is a likelihood of something like that happening and of good results coming from it."

LITTLE CONFERENCE

The Canadian prime minister's carefully chosen words were typical of the TV discussion which, with its participants from around the world, was billed as a "little prime ministers' conference."

But there were snatches of sharp exchanges as well. Obote accused Wilson of soft handling of white-supremacist Rhodesia, formerly Southern Rhodesia.

Twenty-one prime ministers, presidents and deputies, representing some 750,000,000 people, are scheduled to gather round a 48-foot oval table in Marlborough Room at the Grosvenor Hotel in London.

Two MiGs Down In Viet Dogfight

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. Navy jet fighters shot down two Communist MIG fighters over North Viet Nam today, a U.S. military spokesman announced.

Two U.S. Navy Phantom jet fighters clashed with the Communist jets while flying escort for other planes attacking targets in North Viet Nam, the spokesman said.

However, the spokesman said he did not know yet whether the dogfight occurred over North Viet Nam or off the coast over the South China Sea.

U.S. Commits 20,000 More

WASHINGTON — U.S. Defence Secretary McNamara announced Wednesday that 20,000 more U.S. military personnel "are now moving" towards Viet Nam and that a revolutionary air assault division is being formed at Fort Benning, Ga.

IN VIET NAM WEDNESDAY

The Viet Cong scored another ground victory by ambushing a convoy and shooting down a helicopter sent to relieve the convoy, while U.S. warplanes flew 170 bombing sorties against Communist positions in both North and South Viet Nam.

Mr. McNamara said the air assault division—first new type of division created since the Second World War when armored and airborne divisions came into being—will be organized "and made combat ready as expeditiously as possible."

SIX BATTALIONS

He also announced that six additional U.S. battalions and supporting troops are on their way to South Viet Nam.

Mr. McNamara said the additional U.S. strength had been requested by the South Viet Nam government and that the units "will be in place in a few weeks."

He said these reinforcements will bring the total U.S. military strength in Viet Nam to between 70,000 and 75,000 men, of which about 21,000 will be ground combat personnel.

54,000 THERE NOW

Mr. McNamara said nine U.S. battalions are already deployed in Viet Nam and that their 13,000 ground combat men are part of the 54,000 U.S. military personnel now in that country.

The Viet Cong hit a South Vietnamese government convoy 15 miles southwest of Saigon Wednesday while official attention centred on a terrorist bombing that injured 34 United States servicemen and at least 12 other persons at Saigon Airport.

With Abortions, Contraceptives

Population Explosion Muffled by Japanese

By Ian Street

The population explosion has been reduced to manageable proportions in Japan.

It's the only Asian country in the world that can make this claim.

In Few Years

It's possible as a result that in the next few years the national family planning policy may have to be revised.

Dr. Tachi doesn't fit the stereotype of a world-renowned economist. His dark eyes snap with humor; he's articulate and voluble with an excellent command of English. Visitors to his rather drab fifth-floor government office often find him, as I did, costless and wearing suspenders. Yes, he admits, Japan is trying to discourage "a few greedy" gynecologists who continue to counsel their patients to undergo induced abortions without proper observation.

Dr. Tachi points out that induced abortions in Japan, which reached a peak in 1955 with 1,170,000 performed, have since dropped steadily each year to the 1964 figure of 330,000.

But the government would like to see this figure further reduced. A vigorous program of education in methods of contraception is getting startling results. A survey taken last May showed 53 per cent of eligible couples (where the wife is under 35) practice some form of birth control.

Birthrate Drops

The result has been a reduction in Japan's birthrate to 17 per 1,000 population compared with 26 per 1,000 in Canada.

Japan's rate of population growth has slowed to approximately one per cent a year. Despite this achievement the status quo.

Dr. Tachi points out that induced abortions in Japan, which reached a peak in 1955 with 1,170,000 performed, have since dropped steadily each year to the 1964 figure of 330,000.

ABORTIONISTS

The International Planned Parenthood Federation estimated there are some 11,000 registered abortionists in Japan. And despite the government's attempts to promote contraception as the more desirable method of family planning, these doctors have a vested interest in keeping the status quo.

Forecast: Cold, Baby Boy

GENEVA (AP) — Take it from the meteorologists, if you have an accident on the road or on the job you can probably blame it on a change in the weather.

Eighteen experts from 20 nations in a report to the World Meteorological Organization Wednesday said figures based on 1,000,000 individual statistics indicate that during periods of increased atmospheric turbulence — a thunderstorm for example —

Traffic accidents rise by 70 per cent, births by 11 per cent, deaths by 30 per cent, pains in chronic patients by 100 per cent, work accidents by 20 per cent, police admissions by six per cent and mining accidents by 12 per cent. At the same time human reactions are six per cent slower.

Statistics also indicate a baby conceived in cold weather is more likely to be a boy, and in hot weather a girl, they reported.

The study pointed out these figures are based on statistics. But in studies of aspects of human behavior involving such things as traffic accidents, they reported.

population of these crowded islands will reach an estimated 96,500,000 this year. By 1975 it is expected to be over 105,000,000.

Population forecasts prepared by Dr. Tachi's group indicate, however, a steady decline in the percentage of school age youngsters while the numbers of aged grow.

Less Workers

There is a gradual decline predicted for the large section of the population of productive age. But the alarming factor, which is upon Japan right now, is the reduction in new workers entering the labor force.

Fifteen years ago only some 40 per cent of those leaving school went on to some form of higher education or technical training. Last year, the figure had jumped to 65 per cent which meant only 25 per cent of those leaving school immediately entered the labor force.

All present indications point to further sharp reductions in the labor market.

Baby Boom

Japan, like most other nations, had a post-war baby boom that lasted from 1945 to 1950. The country had been brought to its knees. Living standards dropped to one-third of pre-war levels. Two-thirds of the nation's industry was destroyed.

Heat Kills 144 Indians

NEW DELHI (AP)—The death toll in a killer heat wave gripping northern India has hit 144 and no relief is in sight.

Daytime temperatures for the last four days have been ranging from about 108 degrees in New Delhi to more than 120 in Gaya district of Bihar state.

Forty-six per cent of what had been Japanese territory was lost as the result of defeat in war. And to aggravate these conditions 6,500,000 Japanese citizens were repatriated from abroad. They came from Sakhalin, Manchuria, Okinawa, China and Taiwan adding immeasurably to the problems of all.

Mass marriage abortion mills flourished, patronized by housewives who ignored the dangers and somehow managed to scrape together enough money to pay the exorbitant fee.

In 1948 an alarmed and aroused government brought in the Eugenic Protection Law which permits sterilization in cases of serious hereditary diseases; legal abortion "for eugenic reasons"; and pursuit of the national policy of family planning.

Dr. Tachi admits that the term eugenic reasons for permitting abortions gives rise to much confusion.

Origin of the misuse of legal abortions, however, is the clause in the legislation which permits them in cases where authorities deem there are sufficient health and economic reasons.

The fundamental question remains, says Dr. Tachi, who decides what reasons are sufficient?

Is it enough that the family is poor, already has several children, and another child would lower the level of health for all members of the family in economic circumstances? Often this is enough, says Dr. Tachi.

New Orders

But the decision is left in hands of gynecologists appointed by each of the prefectural governments in Japan.

The national government has recently issued orders to all prefectures and to medical associations that induced abortions must not be repeated without grave cause.

Ex-President Flees Troops

LA PAZ (AP)—Former Bolivian president Hernan Siles has taken asylum in the Uruguayan embassy to avoid detention and exile by Bolivia's military junta.

Siles heads the Nationalist Revolutionary Movement, the party of deposed president Victor Paz Estenssoro.

Those who undergo abortions, the order said, must be given follow-up instruction in methods of contraception.

Surveys taken at regular intervals show a rapid rise in popularity of family planning. Now officials are worrying about the possibility of having to undo some of their work.

But it will be application of brakes rather than a full reverse, if it comes.

denis it claims the evidence is irrefutable.

Accident statistics from 50 major European cities show figures increase sharply during biologically unfavorable weather, usually involving a sharp change in the level of atmospheric.

"It is most noteworthy that all researchers have been able to show that the so-called trivial weather dangers due to traffic-jam, slippery roads, glazed frost, etc played an appreciably smaller part in causing the accidents than the simultaneous disturbance to the human body, caused by the direct onset of the weather stimulus," the report said.

Sudden changes in atmospheric levels can have a marked effect on drivers, the study claims.

"The disturbance caused by weather stimuli may be especially dangerous because, even without any perceptible general symptoms, a driver's efficiency may be reduced through a reduction in his power of concentration and a lengthening of his reaction time, these latter changes being generally unnoticed," the report said.

Studies of the influence of weather on sex show the highest number of conceptions of legitimate children occurs in June, and of illegitimate children in May.

Referring to the effects of weather on illness, statistics indicate many diseases are aggravated by sudden weather changes. Sudden increases in tuberculosis have been found to occur in clinics after oppressive warm weather before thunderstorms, during humid cold foggy weather or sudden heat-waves.

Other diseases notably aggravated by sudden weather changes are heart ailments, asthma, hayfever, bronchitis, skin cancer, influenza, poliomyelitis, ulcers and even the common cold, the report said.

Your Good Health

Even Bedridden People Should Get Some Exercise

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: I am in my 80's and am reasonably well. Do you favor calisthenics for people of my age? For 10 minutes a day. Half an hour?

Is walking a better exercise? How far? A mile? Or two or three? Including some hill?—W.H.

I favor daily exercise for everybody of any age—within their limitations. Even a person who is bedridden needs exercise to some extent. Maybe in some cases it will be no more than wiggling or moving the toes, or turning over in bed, or a massage or physical therapy. Even being turned from side to side, if the patient can't do it for himself, is important.

Exercise, in whatever amount, does a great deal more than tone up the muscles. It is important in maintaining blood circulation. It has a marked and useful effect on the efficiency of our breathing. It aids digestion.

As to the amount or the kind, I refuse to try to specify slight unseem. Ten minutes of calisthenics can be too much for a person with a bad heart. An hour would not be excessive for a sound person of the same age who has become accustomed to the routine.

If everyone (except those who have some medical condition prohibiting it) got into the habit of doing five or 10 minutes of brisk calisthenics every day, and of walking a mile, we would all be healthier.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can you take too many Vitamin B12 shots, say every two weeks or once a month? Is B12 for the nerves as well as blood?—Mr. X.

If the body gets more B12 than is necessary, it gets rid of the surplus quite readily. The intervals you mention would not be excessive.

B12 is of value in certain types of neuritis, but it is not a sedative to combat nervousness. Its most important use probably is in counteracting pernicious anemia.

To Mrs. M. K.: There is no diet for arthritis, any more than there is a diet for colds, corns or broken legs. Arthritis isn't a result of faulty diet. Just eat good, balanced meals.

WATERLOO, Belgium—French President de Gaulle's insistence on the Belgian government's presence at the 150th anniversary celebrations of the Battle of Waterloo.

The official functions marking Napoleon's final defeat have been trimmed down to a religious ceremony, a few inconspicuous wreath layings, a cricket game and a private ball at the British ambassador's residence.

RECONSTRUCTION

Napoleon was defeated on June 18, 1815, by British, Belgian, Dutch and Prussian forces.

The event originally was to have been a reconstruction of the battle on the eve of the battle by the Duchess of Richmond. Under official pressure it has been billed as "private."

WELLINGTON PRESENT

British ambassador Sir Rodrick Barclay received 350 guests, chosen from the descendants of those who fought in the famous battle.

Among them was the Duke of Wellington, descendant of the famous British general who defeated Napoleon.

U.S. Warns Russia After Boat Killing

BERLIN (UPI)—The United States warned the Soviets in a strong protest note Wednesday it will take action to protect West Berliners from "cold-blooded brutality" by trigger-happy Communist border guards.

The U.S. note denounced the "senseless murder" of a West Berlin man and the wounding of his fiancée on a border canal. Red Guards fired on the couple because they strayed 15 feet in-

Secret Jailing Abolished

LONDON (CP)—The power of British courts to jail a man in secrecy is being abolished under a rule effective next Monday ordering the courts to name all persons jailed, the reason for the sentence and the length of prison term.

Demolition of the courts' controversial power was announced by the Supreme Court rules committee Wednesday, six weeks after a British judge disclosed he had, without public announcement, sent a man to prison on a contempt charge in a "ward of court" case.

In layman's terms, this simply means the judge, in closed-door sessions, found a man guilty of disobeying the court's decision in connection with a man, woman or child who had been placed under the court's protection or jurisdiction.

Under the new rules announced Wednesday, a judge can still hold a private trial, but if he decides to send the accused to prison, he must go into open court to tell the public the name of the person jailed, the nature of the contempt charge and the period of imprisonment.

FOR UNDER-AGED

The secrecy charge and jailing might have involved the case of a boy friend trying to keep company with an unruly under-aged girl placed in the court's custody by anguished parents.

Mr. Justice E. B. Stamp, in disclosing last month he had sent a man to jail in a "ward of court" case, maintained the court, in keeping the case out of the press, protected the interests of the ward.

However, the British press struck back maintaining it was difficult to understand how a brief, discreet statement of sentence could inhibit the courts or prejudice the parties involved.

The issue reached Parliament where members were told since January, 1964, 13 persons had been sent to prison in secret trials. Commentators suggested this procedure carried with it an end to secret trials and sentences of the Bastille during the days of the French revolution. The Commonwealth Press Union, meeting earlier this week, passed a resolution calling for an end to secret trials and sentences.

Train Toll 10-Plus

MANILA (UPI)—Two passenger trains collided head-on 180 miles north of Manila Wednesday. Early reports said at least 10 people were killed and 21 others injured. A policeman said the scene was strewn with bodies and some were pinned under twisted railroad cars.

When you paint your home

you would ordinarily need all these paints, primers, sealers and solvents.

Now you need only one paint—and one coat!

Here's why:

Monamel Outside Latex is the all-in-one paint that makes more fun and less work out of painting your house. Goes on in one coat—no primer needed on previously painted surfaces. No solvents or oily rags to mess around with. No waiting hours for the paint to dry. It's quick and it's easy. Monamel Outside Latex House Paint goes on stucco, concrete, metal, and asbestos just as easily as on wood. It saves you the cost of separate paints and primers. Monamel won't blister or peel. It sheds water yet allows moisture-vapor to escape into the outer air. It lasts up to 50% longer than old-fashioned paints—a great saving in home maintenance costs.

It dries in 20-30 minutes. You can paint a second coat (if needed) without moving the ladder back and forth.

You can paint on damp, muggy days—or just after a rainfall. And you can clean up the tools in water just as easily as washing your hands.

Monamel's wide range of colors have such purity they will give your house a cleanliness and beauty you would hardly believe possible.

Buy this remarkable paint where you see this sign—Monamel dealers are listed in the Yellow Pages.

Germans Eye Space

By ANTONY TERRY, from Bonn

West Germany is planning to get into the cut-price space transport business with 200-ton, twin "pickaback" manned space craft.

These will be able to take off from an ordinary airfield and carry a three-ton load into orbit 200 miles above the earth and return to land safely.

The Bonn government has been quietly financing preliminary projects studies for the past two years and the West German firms engaged are in touch with the British and French aircraft industry with a view to a link-up.

The Germans want the European space industry to join Bonn in investing nearly $100,000,000 a year during the next 10 years for a joint British-French-German space bus enterprise on a long-term commercial basis like communications satellites.

Junkers, the German wartime bomber firm now associated with Messerschmitt and other West German firms into a space research and development group, is behind the project.

Apart from transportation, the new German space van is also being considered as an orbiting ambulance to bring medical aid to crews of larger space craft while in orbit and as a "service van" for the technical repair and control of communications satellites.

Dr. Jurgen Lamprecht, one of the designers said: "All it needs is a catapult on a two-mile runway fitted with rails on a normal airfield for the 500-mph take-off."

"With three passengers, the smaller of the twin craft will slip into orbit at 18,000 mph, matching its speed to the space platform it is supplying. Hand steering will be used to bring it alongside and an electronic steering will bring it back to earth."

"The main carrier drops off and returns to earth for re-use and the smaller space van returns later on an economical and practical system."

In France the Germans are sharing some of their know-how with the French firms of Dassault and Nord Aviation, but the links with Britain are "much closer and much more cordial," a spokesman said.

Message to Friends, Foes

Humphrey Explains 'Johnson Doctrine'

By RICHARD WILSON, from Washington

President Johnson has disavowed paternity of an all-embracing "Johnson doctrine" of unilateral intervention to prevent the Communist takeover of weak governments.

However, Vice-President Hubert Humphrey has spelled out in greater detail than either the president or Secretary of State Dean Rusk, what he considers to be the main elements of present policy. It must be assumed that so prudent a vice-president as Humphrey has not gone beyond his depth.

The Vice-President presented his analysis in a speech at the National War College to an audience composed of what he called "the elite of the armed forces of the United States and of the civilian agencies which guide our national security."

He told this elite group that it must be prepared for new conditions which have developed in world affairs in the last two and a half years. No longer, he said, is the attention of the world focused on the direct nuclear confrontation between Moscow and Washington.

"Today," he said, "that bipolar world has dissolved." We face now, he said, an array of wars of national liberation, border conflicts and internal rebellions which are no less important for our national security than the nuclear confrontations. "In many areas of the world," he continued, "the United States has inherited the role of protector and defender of non-communist nations which are under communist assault. It is a role we have not sought. It is often a painful and expensive one. But it is an essential one—both to the security of the non-communist world and to our own."

How is the challenge to be met? "By a subtle blending of economic aid, political expertise, educational efforts, information and propaganda programs combined with military power," in other words, by force, guile, and generosity.

Humphrey clearly assumed that the U.S. role as "protector and defender of non-communist nations" will last for a long time. Liberals, he said, must get used to the exercise of American power; and conservatives must learn that just smashing the communists is not enough, but the U.S. must promise a better life to those threatened by communist takeover.

The U.S. must discharge its obligation to the free world without thought of imposing its own ways: no "Pax Americana," no idea that it is the global gendarmery. The vice-president paid his respects to the role of the UN and other multilateral organizations in preserving the peace, but he frankly said they were not always capable of acting quickly. Therefore, the United States would act.

It is precisely this concept, which inevitably converts the United States military and paramilitary forces into a global gendarmery, which so excites foreign and domestic criticism of the Johnson policy.

In the context of Humphrey's outline the U.S. could be more or less continually involved in military actions for as long as anyone can foresee. Viet Nam would be followed by Thailand, and Thailand by Cambodia, and then it would be someplace else in some other part of the world so long as wars of liberation were a disguise for communist takeover.

This, the critics say, is the folly of the Johnson policy because it over-extends and makes the U.S. into the policeman of the world, and quixotically attempts to impose on an increasingly diverse world exactly what Humphrey denies, a Pax Americana—the American idea of stable world order.

This is a tough policy, and intended to be tough in the full realization that some nations in the world will object. "The supreme challenge of today," Humphrey said, "is to prove to our communist foes and our freedom-loving friends that the new face of war is no less perilous than the old—and that it can be defeated by those of strong mind, stout heart and a steel will."

In such a scheme, day-by-day events in Viet Nam are incidents in the larger test of the integrity of American commitments. This, then, is the Johnson doctrine: a continuation of the Truman, Eisenhower and Kennedy doctrines, with the help of other nations, if possible; but, if not, alone.

Syria Wooded with Arms

Red China Helps Widen Arab Split

By LAWRENCE MOSHER, from Beirut, Lebanon

The present Arab split over the Palestine issue has tempted the Communist Chinese to walk where their arch rivals, the Russians, have feared to tread.

On his recent trip to Zanzibar, Chinese Premier Chou En-lai stopped off in Baghdad, Cairo and Damascus to court Arab backing in China's attempt to keep the Russians out of the Afro-Asian conference set to begin in Algiers June 29.

Chou was battling uphill in Cairo where President Nasser is deeply involved with the Russians who are financing most of his industrial development. But the Chinese premier's surprise stopover in Damascus posed more inviting possibilities.

Egypt and Syria are now locked in a deadly psychological war over the entire conduct of the Arab campaign against Israel.

The long-simmering Arab feud exploded at the Arab League premiers' conference in Cairo last month when the Syrians accused Nasser of backing down on military commitments.

In general, the Syrians say they want a shooting war with Israel now. Nasser says nothing doing while half his army is still tied up in Yemen.

The Russians have wisely kept out of such Arab contempts, choosing to reap the long-term rewards of backing the Arabs at the United Nations and selling them arms.

In Damascus, however, Chou appears to have attempted to exploit the Arab breach by offering the Syrians a deal: join with China to bar the Russians from the Afro-Asian meeting, and China will support Syria's militant policy toward Israel.

After a 75-minute meeting between Chou and Syrian President Amin el Hafez, a spokesman reported that Chou pledged "firm support for Syria against repeated Israeli aggression." Several days later a Beirut newspaper reported that Chou, in a secret deal, offered to supply Syria with $128,000,000 worth of arms. It said a Chinese trade delegation, which included military advisers, had arrived in Damascus and then toured the Israeli border area.

By siding with the Syrians in the intra-Arab quarrel, China is running a double risk.

The Syrians may balk at the last moment in Algiers and refuse to support the Chinese stand against Russia.

Arabs have a way of forgetting the harsh words they said to each other only yesterday.

Gorge Pollution

Citizens' First Petitions Demand Public Hearing

Members of the Portage Inlet and Gorge Waterways Association have called for a public hearing on the current pollution controversy.

The Gorge area residents made the demand through a committee of seven which presented the Pollution Control Board Wednesday with petitions against the proposed establishment of sewage treatment plants on Colquitz Creek.

A total of 5,554 names were given to board secretary Charles Keenan, and "we have lots more if those aren't enough," said association president Richard Faulk.

"Let's get the facts before the public," said Mr. Faulk. "This seems to be the only way we can beat this thing—by public outcry."

"The people are upset enough, all right. Now we just have to make the government realize it."

The petitions were in protest against a proposed provincial government treatment plant for a retarded children's hospital to be built near Wilkinson Mill. The treatment plant will discharge 90,000 gallons a day into Colquitz Creek.

WHY HURRY?

"It will be a sorry thing if this is allowed to go through," said Mr. Faulk. "Why the hurry? Why not wait for the district sewage survey?"

"Everybody wants to see the hospital built—but why should it be at the expense of residents in the Gorge and Portage Inlet areas?"

He indicated his group will also vigorously oppose an earlier Saanich application, passed by the board, for a 35,000-gallon-a-day discharge from the Northridge subdivision.

RECREATION ONLY

The group included three women and four men and was headed by Howard Roberts. "We don't want a 'no' answer," said Mr. Roberts. "We want these waters to be used for recreation only—and if it means holding up Northridge until the sewer survey is complete, well, I don't think that would be so bad."

5,554 Names

Pay-Parking Due Soon At Terminals

A charge of 30 cents for parking up to 48 hours at the four main B.C. Ferry terminals will be instituted July 15, it was announced Wednesday.

The provincial cabinet signed an order-in-council allowing the ferry authority to make the charge at Tsawwassen, Swartz Bay, Horseshoe Bay and Departure Bay terminals.

KASE EXPENSE

Ron Worley, assistant ferry manager, said fees will be charged to help recover some of the expense of providing parking facilities.

He said self-serve facilities are on order now and should be installed by mid-July at the four major terminals.

The devices are similar to those used at airports, and consist of gates which open when drivers deposit their parking fees.

MORE ROOM

Ferry officials were unable to say how many cars could be handled by the parking lots. Facilities at Swartz Bay are currently being extended. But it is believed they can take up to 1,000 cars at the four terminals.

Mr. Worley said there is no official estimate of the return expected from the pay-as-you-park scheme.

Another Tumble

Finance Firm Labors To Solve Fund Crisis

TORONTO (CP) — Shares of Atlantic Acceptance Corp. Ltd. of Toronto tumbled a further 36.87 to hit $7.25 Wednesday on the Toronto Stock Exchange as management and trustees met into the night to find a way out of the company's financial difficulties.

The finance company defaulted on its short-term obligations Tuesday, saying sufficient funds could not be raised from Canadian or U.S. sources.

TREASURER

B. L. McFadden said the crisis was triggered Monday when $5,000,000 U.S. notes fell due and could not be paid. This automatically put the company's entire debt of about $105,000,000 into default. About 80 per cent of the debt is in U.S. hands.

RUMORS

Shares of the company have fallen $13 in two days. The collapse started Tuesday on rumors of the default.

A. T. Lambert, chairman and president of the Toronto Dominion Bank—Atlantic's major bankers and a large holder of its notes, said he thought Atlantic's predicament resulted from a congestion of notes coming due at the same time.

"There is no suggestion of our withdrawing our support from the company," he said. "In fact we are handling in excess of our commitment to the company."

TOO FAST

Mr. Lambert added: "The company has been operated with substantial short-term funds from street sources, and perhaps management has taken this thing along faster than they should have."

Before Wednesday's meeting with the trustees — Montreal Trust Co.—Mr. McFadden said a block of repossessions possibly would be sold to cover debt requirements.

Atlantic maintains 31 acceptance branches and 71 small-loan branches across Canada.

VIEWS OF SPORT

By Red Smith

When Sonny Liston fell down in Lewiston, Maine, the punch that cued his pratfall didn't look like much from the ringside. It looked no better the next day on the television kinescope, except to Cassius Clay and his clique who watched with the press, cooling and chortling with delighted admiration. Neither at normal speed nor in slow motion did Clay's short right suggest a thunderbolt.

Recently the punch was viewed again from the perspective of a fortnight's meditation and prayer. The movie produced by Manny Spiro for distribution to theatres—but never sold because of the bout's brevity—catches details that escaped the eyewitness, the TV camera, and the still photographers.

Manny's slow-motion camera, in particular, was admirably placed. As a vivid record of what happened May 25th in that high school hockey rink, the pictures are superb.

And on film it is still a phantom punch. It is still the Shot Smelled Round the World.

The post-bout spate of argument, boiling like a river in flood, included some fascinating observations. One reader kept telephoning this office to report that he had read Clay's lips on closed-circuit. As Jersey Joe Walcott stopped the match, this witness testified, Cassius told somebody from his corner, "I don't know. I didn't hit him."

Incredibly, Clay's lips don't move at all from the moment Angelo Dundee and Drew Brown rush out of his corner until, a considerable time later, he lays a glove on Liston's shoulder and says better luck next time, or something. He just looks dazed while his handlers are embracing him.

Some Fancy Footwork

One impressive piece of published expertise gave the impression it was based on a study of still pictures. Describing the punch as a perfectly timed knockout blow, it said Cassius planted his left foot solidly and pivoted to get his whole weight into the blow. It said the force of the smash, catching Liston coming in, lifted Sonny's left foot off the floor.

Not the way Manny Spiro's camera saw it, and Manny ran the slow-motion again and again the other day so every detail could be studied.

Down On All Fours

"He broke his fall with his hands," somebody said at ringside after Liston went down. True, but a man stunned by a blow could go down the same way. Twisting to his right, Sonny falls with both arms extended so the gloves touch the floor first. He continues forward and down, taking a step and a half on all fours—gloves and feet not knees. Then the complete fall, the roll, the rise to one knee, the second fall, and so on, with the camera watching as the eye cannot.

Now comes a suggestion that Liston was aware before the referee was that he had been down more than 10 seconds. Getting up, he looks at Clay, but as Walcott steps between them to dust gloves, Sonny turns and stares fixedly across the ring in the knockdown timekeeper's direction.

Walcott turns to follow Liston's gaze, and at length Clay glances over that way, too. Only when Jersey Joe leaves the fighters to consult the timekeeper does Sonny turn back to face Clay and lift his gloves.

When Liston fell, Clay followed the right counter with a tardy left hook that missed by at least six inches. Now, in the wild flurry during Walcott's brief absence, Cassius lands only one punch, a light hook to the face.

Answer Without Question

When every detail had been studied, Spiro broke out a documentary he made of the first Liston-Clay meeting in Miami Beach. He never sold this, either. It begins with the mob scene in the ring just after Liston's surrender. Clay is screaming, "I'm the king! I'm the king of the world!"

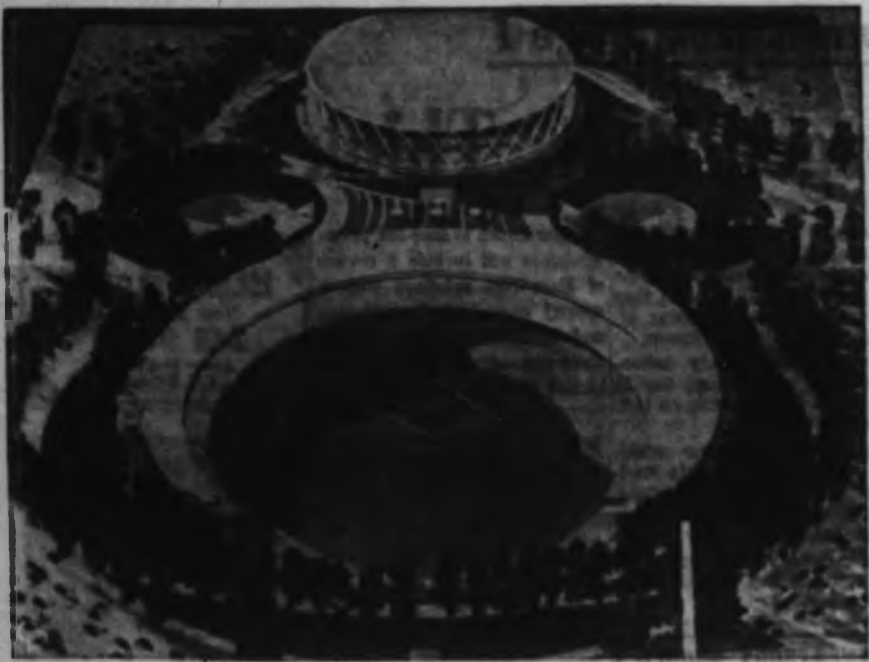

Then, loud and clear on the soundtrack, come words which did not get through to the working press rows in the tumult of the moment.

"It wasn't a fix," Clay yells. "You can't call it a fix because I didn't stop it, the doctor did." It was an answer without a question.

Is the heavyweight champion of the world a great fighter? He says so, but his two meetings with Liston—his only bouts on the championship level—are all the evidence we have.

All They Need Is Team

Here is architect's drawing of proposed 50,000-seat baseball and football stadium for Oakland, Calif. City hopes to join American League baseball empire eventually. Building at top is for indoor sports events.

Inter-Club Goes Limit

Royal Colwood golf team lands team at Royal Colwood made certain that the inter-club competition for the Willie Park Driver would go right. Uplands and allowed second down to the final round when place Victoria to creep a bit closer to the leaders.

I have never actually met an American golf professional by the name of Richard Kolbus, so I can't tell you whether or not I rate him a good guy.

All I do say is that for this man to put up with tournament in a Rolls Royce for which not even a down-payment of a single dime was required is, to me, a travesty of all that professional golf stands for.

The story is a seemingly simple one. Mr. Kolbus, whose name I regret to say had escaped me until last week, was playing in an event known as the Harrah's Invitational tournament, of the existence of which I was equally blissfully unaware.

Well, Mr. Kolbus came to the fourteenth hole—a bauble of some 105 yards—and sank his tee shot.

So far so good. At that moment he joined some 15,000 of us golfers who have known the thrill of a hole-in-one. Even the fact that he must have been playing on a pigmy course doesn't permit me to denigrate that feat.

What does make me see red is that gimmick-ridden, publicity-seeking local promoters are still seeing fit to offer prizes of quite lunatic proportions for holes in one.

Mr. Kolbus' prize at Stateline, Nevada, was a simple Rolls Royce. Not that that will warrant even a second glance. Another golfer named Al Reale also swears around in a Rolls in those parts. He won his for a hole in one two years ago!

There are those who will accuse me of having an angry bee in my bonnet on this subject for I return to it, with ever-increasing vehemence, once every year.

For this I make no apology. It may or may not be through efforts of mine, but thank heavens that our own British promoters and sponsors are beginning to see sense.

This year the prize money on the British circuit has reached an all-time high. And rightly it is being primarily paid to those who win their cash by skill. Hole in one prizes are becoming fewer and fewer.

It was, in the first place, one of America's craziest exports. Crazy because the "ace," however thrilling to watch or achieve, will always remain a matter of sheer luck.

If you dispute that, then let me remind you that whereas a British golfer, C. T. Chevalier holed 24 aces in his career, Bobby Jones, one of the greats of all-time, never achieved the feat once.

The big hole in one prize gimmick reached its height in the Californian desert classic tournament where, five years ago, the prize soared to $50,000.

But, ironically, the idea rebounded on the organizers in a very big way. The first year it was won by a then-unknown called Joe Campbell. The following year it was won by Don January.

By the third year the golf writers weren't worrying about covering the tournament itself. They sat cooped up behind the stipulated "sensational" short hole, waited in vain for a repetition and consequently gave the event the poorest publicity it had ever received!

To me the "ace-in-the-hole" lark is positively discouraging to professional golfers. You can shoot four 67s, say, and still go away with less than a quarter of the reward of some fellow who's reeled off an 80 but landed one lucky blow.

I don't think the spectators are kidded, either. Golf, more than other sports, attracts active golfers as spectators. They don't want to be treated like kids who have to be entertained by circus-trick sideshows to keep them from becoming bored.

I don't envy Messrs. Kolbus and Reale their Rolls Royces. Good luck to them if they can find some sucker promoter soft enough to part with such costly toys.

On the other hand I hope this doesn't spark off another spate of gimmick awards in Britain.

If the promoters have money to burn, let them put up the genuine prize money still further, so that men like Palmer, Nicklaus and Player would find it worth while coming here for more than just the Open championship.

Senior Starts Fast Then Stops Faster

VANCOUVER (CP) — Monty H. Hill of Vancouver fired a one-over-par 73 to take the lead after the first round in the Canadian seniors golf championship here Wednesday, but it was Jack Macfarlane who stole the show.

Macfarlane, also of Vancouver, started off like a ball of fire.

After five holes he had an amazing five-under-par and then he blew it with several bad holes.

Two eagles

On the par-five first hole, Macfarlane shot an eagle, he parred the next one in four and shot a birdie on the par five third. The next hole he evened in three and on the par five fifth, he got another eagle.

On the sixth he ran into trouble. He went one over par four on that hole and then two over par on the next. He was even four on the eighth, but lost another stroke on the par three ninth to finish the front nine in one under par 36.

Consistent home

He played fairly consistent golf on the way in and finished the day one stroke off the leader.

Hill was delighted with his work on the fairways but said his performance on the greens wasn't up to par. However, he scored a birdie on the tough par five 18th when he dropped the ball in the cup on a beautiful 40-foot putt.

John J. Cummings of Vancouver, last year's seniors champion George C. Hevenor of Toronto and John Richardson of Vancouver, shared sixth spot with 76.

Hill's 73 gave him the lead in Class A-55 to 59 years—as well as the individual standings. Cummings was ahead in Class B-50 to 54—and Norman Lucas of Winnipeg, with an 81, was out in front of Class C-45 to 49. Lying well back in the pack but out in front of the golfers over 70 in Class D was Bob Dickson of Vancouver with an 83.

British Columbia golfers, who make up almost two-thirds of the record entry of 134, were leading the race for the seniors inter-provincial team championship.

The top four B.C. golfers had a low aggregate score of 280, well out in front of their nearest rivals, the Ontario foursome with 338 strokes.

Alberta was only two strokes back with Saskatchewan breathing down its neck with 333 strokes. Manitoba, the remaining team, had 351 points. The championship goes in the provincial team having the lowest aggregate score at the end of 54 holes on Friday.

Don Ross Island Leader

Donald Ross led the Victoria contingent with 30-41-30 and other island scores were: Dr. George Bigelow, Victoria, 45-45-81; Larry McCooey, Victoria, 44-41-35; George Davies, Victoria, 45-45-85; Harry Young, Victoria, 45-44-89; Ken Alexander, Nanaimo, 45-47-92; Fred Cowan, Victoria, 49-47-94, and Bill Kane, Victoria, 55-45-88.

Richardson Keeps Title

HALIFAX (CP) — Blair Richardson retained his Canadian middleweight boxing championship Wednesday night with a third-round knockout over Dennis Chisholm of Pictou, N.S., the No. 1 contender.

A crowd of about 4,000 gave Richardson a good ovation after the island Cape Breton cut Chisholm down with a hard right cross to the head at the 30-second mark of the third round.

It was Richardson's first title defence since late in 1963 when he knocked out Ron Brothers of Saint John, N.B., in the fourth round.

So now you can treat your Canadian friends to that English beer you've been telling them about.

Toby's a typical English beer, made with real English hops, toasted barley-malt, and patience.

So it has more bite and less gas than Canadian beer. And a deep-amber colour.

Since it's English beer, remember, you should serve it at English pub temperature. Not warm, heaven forbid.

Just nicely cool.

Quebec Issue

advice of the responsible provincial ministers. . . .

In effect, he was stating the Quebec cabinet's request for an amendment to the British North America Act to curb the legislative council's powers should be accepted.

However, he prefaced his announcement by saying the federal cabinet decided there is nothing in the proposed change which concerns the federal government. The government was simply meeting its constitutional responsibilities of giving Governor-General Vanier advice when he asked for it.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker lit into the government decision as "devious and unconstitutional."

The constitution specified that any such address must be approved by the provincial legislature.

In Quebec's case, this meant not only the lieutenant-governor and the legislative assembly, but the legislative council as well.

"Those are the facts and no amount of specious argument can get around them," Mr. Diefenbaker charged the government has become an open party to a constitutional violation because of an "under-the-table" agreement between Prime Minister Pearson and Premier Lesage.

PROPOSAL CONDEMNED

The whole deal was engineered to open the way for approval of the proposed amendment formula for the Canadian constitution, Mr. Diefenbaker said.

The opposition leader was also critical of Mr. Martin's proposal that the House be given a chance to discuss the question on a supply motion next Monday.

PARTY POLITICS

"Let the government make its recommendation in the form of a resolution and put it before Parliament. Let it have a little backbone."

Mr. Diefenbaker said the government's action places the Queen in the arena of party politics.

NDP Leader T. C. Douglas demanded the government bring forward a resolution so the address would be from the Canadian Parliament, not just the executive.

The government's action not to consult Parliament set the country back 80 years, he said. Not since 1871 had a government failed to consult Parliament on such a matter.

Mr. Douglas also asked why the Senate was to be ignored.

More Land For Wing

The RCAF Association has applied for leases which would triple previously acquired land on which it plans a new $55,000 headquarters building.

William Stevenson, president of 500 Pacific Wing, said Tuesday the two new lots on Hildale Road and Wilson Street in Victoria West will bring the total area to about two acres and provide an additional street outlet.

B.C. Baptists Back Canadian Merger

TORONTO (CP)—The convention of regular Baptist churches in British Columbia voted Wednesday in Vancouver to join the fellowship of evangelical Baptist churches across Canada.

Rev. Charles Tipp, editor of The Evangelical Baptist, said in an interview here Wednesday the union of the two churches will bring a total of 330 churches under one board, including about 20 French-speaking congregations in Quebec.

The union involves 3,000 members of the convention in British Columbia and 27,000 members of the fellowship from the Rockies to the Maritimes, said Mr. Tipp.

The decision to merge came after two years of negotiations between the two executive councils, he said, and will affect two overseas missions in Japan and India.

over which organization has jurisdiction in the Dominican conflict.

Colombian Ambassador Alfredo Vasquez Carrizosa reiterated the OAS' general displeasure with the role the UN was playing in Dominican negotiations.

Venezuela's ambassador, Enrique Tejera Paria, argued the longer it took for the OAS to reach a solution, the stronger the forces of Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, leader of the civilian-military junta, would grow.

over which organization has jurisdiction in the Dominican conflict.

Thomas Mann, assistant secretary of state who spoke as a special U.S. envoy before a meeting of the Organization of American States, read from a 14th of June movement pamphlet urging Dominicans to take up arms and "consolidate the victory" against "imperialists" and the Inter-American troops.

The party took its name from the date of an abortive landing of Castroite forces in the Dominican Republic during the regime of the late generalissimo Rafael Trujillo.

ON-THE-SCENE

Meanwhile, Soviet Ambassador Nikolai Fedorenko proposed that the UN Security Council go to Santo Domingo for on-the-scene meetings about the crisis there.

Holding of Security Council meetings in Santo Domingo "would clearly contribute to the effectiveness of its work," he said.

U.S. Ambassador Charles Yost told the Security Council that rebel forces staged Tuesday's outbreak to provoke the United Nations into supporting rebel leader Canmano.

Yost said there was "little doubt" that rebels started the incident using mortars, rocket launchers, anti-tank guns and machine guns.

MEDIATION

UN and OAS officials met separately with rebel leaders in Santo Domingo Wednesday in mediation attempts aimed at ending the political crisis.

Pearson Plea: Forget Past, Think Ahead

ough House today for the opening of their nine-day talks.

It was obvious from discussions Wednesday that Viet Nam is uppermost in many minds.

Although Britain has been reported exploring the possibility of a new diplomatic initiative, Wilson's words on the TV broadcast were extremely cautious. Describing the meeting as a "microcosm" of the world, he said it is inevitable leaders will represent a great many points of view.

"If we can reach a measure of understanding and agreement about world problems, we shall give a lead to the world," he said.

Britain is expected to urge Commonwealth nations to issue a joint appeal for Viet Nam peace talks.

Well informed sources said Wednesday that Wilson is anxious for agreement on this critical issue for three reasons:

● It would have the authority of a broad range of opinion from governments of all races.

● Those Commonwealth leaders going on to the Afro-Asian summit conference at Algiers later this month would be able to test Communist reaction to it.

● If the Communist countries refused to agree to talks despite the new appeal, it would become clear to world opinion that they were trying to achieve their aims through violence, Wilson is said to think.

Britain has seen no sign from China, North Viet Nam or the Soviet Union of willingness to negotiate, these sources said.

Pearson and India's Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri both expressed alarm over the Vietnamese situation when they arrived in London Tuesday directly from talks in Ottawa.

There were already indications of a split among the 21 leaders in their thinking on U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

New Zealand's prime minister, Keith Holyoake, said Wednesday he thinks Viet Cong should attend any Viet Nam peace conference.

Diplomatic sources said Britain supports U.S. opposition to such a move.

cans were killed and 24 U.S. soldiers wounded.

Thomas Mann, assistant secretary of state who spoke as a special U.S. envoy before a meeting of the Organization of American States, read from a 14th of June movement pamphlet urging Dominicans to take up arms and "consolidate the victory" against "imperialists" and the Inter-American troops.

The party took its name from the date of an abortive landing of Castroite forces in the Dominican Republic during the regime of the late generalissimo Rafael Trujillo.

ON-THE-SCENE

Meanwhile, Soviet Ambassador Nikolai Fedorenko proposed that the UN Security Council go to Santo Domingo for on-the-scene meetings about the crisis there.

Holding of Security Council meetings in Santo Domingo "would clearly contribute to the effectiveness of its work," he said.

U.S. Ambassador Charles Yost told the Security Council that rebel forces staged Tuesday's outbreak to provoke the United Nations into supporting rebel leader Canmano.

Yost said there was "little doubt" that rebels started the incident using mortars, rocket launchers, anti-tank guns and machine guns.

MEDIATION

UN and OAS officials met separately with rebel leaders in Santo Domingo Wednesday in mediation attempts aimed at ending the political crisis.

And a controversy again arose

Secret Talks Stay Secret

"We had quite a discussion," Oak Bay Reeve Allan Cox said Wednesday, but he wouldn't give details of what was discussed.

Municipal leaders were obviously pleased with prospects for their new Greater Victoria-Greater Vancouver Committee when the first meeting at Oak Bay Municipal Hall broke up for lunch.

But details of their meeting were not made public.

ADVISORY ONLY

"The problem is that we are strictly an advisory body, and of course we must advise our respective councils before anything is released to the press," said Reeve Cox.

In a statement released after the meeting, Mr. Cox said that "the purpose of the committee is to discuss and study problems common to the two metropolitan areas and to recommend courses

Police Quell Women's Riot

MEDELLIN, Colombia (AP)—

Police hurling tear gas shells subdued 500 inmates of the women's jail here after firemen failed to cool them down with hoses.

The women, apparently protesting jail food, used sticks, stones, broken glass and other improvised weapons to injure two guards.

of common action to the various councils."

ONE MISSING

All municipalities in the two areas were represented except New Westminster, whose mayor was unable to attend due to prior commitments. But the Royal City will take part in future meetings.

Among topics on the agenda were hospitals, highways and the provincial government's regional district proposal.

FOUR MEETINGS

It is expected that about four meetings will be held each year. They will alternate between the Island and the mainland, and the mayor or reeve of the municipality where the meeting is held will act as chairman.

$250,000 Building to Polish 17-Ton Mirror

Giant Eye Brings Optical Shop

A $250,000 building to be built here as an optical shop for polishing Canada's biggest telescope mirror will probably be constructed near the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory in Saanich, an official said Tuesday.

The precise site has not yet been officially selected.

It will be used to polish a number of other auxiliary mirrors as well.

Roy Dancey of Victoria, chief optician at the observatory, will be in charge of polishing the huge fused quartz mirror-blank which is yet to be manufactured, probably in the U.S.

Work is also expected to get started soon on the other front—construction of the observatory itself atop 6,500-foot Mount Kobay in the South-Central Okanagan Valley.

But work on the site can't start until a 12-mile access road is built from a nearby highway.

A works department official said a consulting engineer will be commissioned shortly to design the road, a key project with complicated grade requirements necessary to haul heavy equipment up the slope.

Commissioning of the engineer was authorized last week by the treasury board and contract negotiations now are in progress.

The mines and technical surveys department, responsible for the entire project, also has been working on preliminary engineering and expects to call tenders for the reflector blank early this summer, possibly by the end of the month.

Purchaser

Salary Boost Granted

The provincial cabinet Wednesday approved an increase in salary of more than $4,000 a year for the chairman of the government's purchasing commission.

The new chairman, R. G. McKee, will get $15,000 a year starting in December.

His predecessor, G. E. P. Jones, fired by the government last session after saying it had lost confidence in him, would have been paid $10,500 this year.

FULL TIME JULY 1

The increase was disclosed Wednesday in a cabinet order-in-council which announced Mr. McKee will take up the post full time July 1.

Mr. McKee was due to retire Dec. 23 from his job as deputy minister of forestry. He had filled the chairman's job on a part-time basis and without additional salary since Mr. Jones was suspended last October.

The cabinet approved this and ordered that Mr. McKee be paid $18,000 a year until his normal retirement date in December.

AGE EXTENDED

After that, his salary as head of the three-man purchasing commission will be $15,000 a year.

The legislature at the last session gave the government authority to extend length of service to age 70. Under previous regulations, extensions beyond normal retirement age could only be made for three months at a time.

Car Into Lake Two in Hospital

An accident which shot a car into Fairy Lake near Port Renfrew Tuesday night sent two people to hospital.

Donald Collis, 19, of 401A Douglas Street, was in satisfactory condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital. Gary Muir, 18, of 2035 Foch was discharged after a checkup.

Sidney Told

Thirsty Days Ahead

Sidney water district is preparing for a water shortage and restrictions will be imposed, according to water board chairman F. S. B. Heward.

"It is wise to take precautions when we have a number of hot sunny days, because our supply of ground water is limited and our pumps can only handle so much," he said.

He pointed out the Sidney water district received its water from a system of wells which were supplied by ground water originating from Mount Newton.

"Every so often at this time of year we begin to think of restrictions, and ask co-operation of the people to conserve water," Mr. Heward said.

Gardeners in Greater Victoria are more fortunate than their Sidney counterparts because there will be plenty of water for lawns and gardens in the Greater Victoria area, according to water commissioner Ronald Upward.

He has reported there is more water in Sooke Lake reservoir now than there was at Easter, and storage levels are so good that water is running over spillways.

In the Park

Parking Signs Wanted

There is a 15-minute limit on night parking in Beacon Hill Park—but not enough people know about it, says Victoria Police Chief J. F. Gregory.

In a letter to city council Tuesday, the chief asked for more signs in Beacon Hill Park to advise tourists and residents of the regulations about park closure hours.

SEASONAL

A city bylaw gears closure hours in the downtown park to fit the seasonal hours of darkness.

It limits parking to 15 minutes after 8 p.m. during November, December and January; after 8 p.m. during February, March, April and October; and after 10 p.m. during May, June, July, August and September.

The only exception is a one-hour period after any public function or demonstration in the park.

Patience Pays City Police

Police decided to play it cagey when investigating a complaint of youngsters swiping cherries at 2017 Fernwood Wednesday night.

The two boys were surprised by the owner and left in a hurry, leaving their bicycles behind.

Police picked up the bikes and brought them to the station—and waited.

When the bikes were claimed the youngsters were warned that stealing cherries was frowned upon.

Now They Know

Tour Boosters See City First

More than 70 persons connected with the tourist industry became tourists themselves Wednesday afternoon for a three-hour bus tour of Victoria.

As guests of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce tourist industry group and the Gray Line, Blue Line and White Line, the tourists-for-a-day got acquainted with Victoria.

"It will help us a lot," said Trisha Casey, an education student at the University of Victoria who is working at the Royal London Wax Museum for the summer.

"The tourists ask a lot of questions, and now we will be better prepared to answer them."

"They do ask a lot of directions," said Doncen Martin, who works for the Royal Train display. "It's better if you've actually seen the places."

The trip started at the Victoria Visitors' Bureau at the Causeway, went past the legislative buildings, through James Bay to Dallas Road and took in Craigdarroch Castle, Olde England Inn and other tourist attractions.

The group was shown through Spencer Castle and given tea at the Oak Bay Marina. The tour ended there with a visit to the Undersea Gardens and a look at the sport fishing boat Lakewood.

Many of the party, which included representatives from retail stores and half a dozen Victoria policemen, seemed to see the city anew.

Murmurs of "beautiful, beautiful" could be heard as the buses passed emerald lawns, colorful gardens and vistas of sun-splashed water and the snow-capped Olympics Mountains.

"I've seen more today than in the 27 years I've lived here," said Winifred Janowsky, hostess at the Olde England Inn.

Elizabeth Fisher School

Arson Possibility Checked in Fire

Cause of a small fire Wednesday at Elizabeth Fisher Junior High School has not yet been established, but firemen are investigating the possibility that it was deliberately set.

A Langford fire department official said the fire started in between the inner and outer walls of the annex, an old army hut.

Paper, steel wool and cigarette wrappings had been stuffed through a hole in the wall.

'FEW PRANKSTERS'

"There are always a few pranksters," said principal J. C. Holt, "and we're definitely looking into the possibility that one of the children may be responsible."

He said, however, that the Sewage

'All To Blame'

Victoria will become an island in a sea of sewage if an adequate sewer system is not installed, David Southall of the Portage Inlet and Gorge Waterway Association told a panel meeting Wednesday night.

The Gorge-side resident, speaking as a member of the panel at Craigflower school, said even treated sewage may contain elements which could eventually be harmful to human life.

The meeting, sponsored by the capital region branch of the Community Planning Association of Canada, was chaired by Mrs. B. Levitt Packford with Donald Matheson as moderator.

NO ONE GROUP

Other panel members were consulting civil engineer Russell Potter, Saanich Coun. William Campbell, naturalist Freeman King and Dr. Alan Austin of University of Victoria.

"No one group of persons or one association can be blamed for the present condition of the Gorge," said Freeman King. "We are all to blame."

NATURAL BASIN

He explained to the meeting of approximately 175 residents the Gorge waterway was a natural drainage basin, and as there is very little topsoil above the hardpan in this area run-offs from septic tanks, treatment plants, drainage ditches eventually drain into the Gorge. He pointed out that this drainage is accomplished much more easily since most of the trees have been cut.

"There is not a great deal of transfer of the water between the Gorge and the sea," Mr. Potter said.

PUMPING

He said a pumping system may ease the situation if water from Esquimalt harbor could be pumped into Portage Inlet. This would get the water moving, he explained.

Coun. Campbell said neither he nor any member of Saanich council wished to have the Gorge waterway polluted.

FOOD FOR ALGAE

The effluent may be safe and non-toxic, pointed out Dr. Austin, but it contains food chemicals for such organisms as algae, which multiply at a terrific rate.

On a motion from the floor of the meeting attended mostly by Gorge residents, a resolution was passed that the meeting urge the B.C. Pollution Control Board to postpone any action regarding discharge of additional treated sewage into the Gorge and Portage Inlet pending receipt of the joint services engineering study for sewage disposal which is due before April of next year.

Liquor Vote Friday

North Saanich residents will decide by ballot Friday on the question of cocktail lounges, beer parlors and liquor in restaurants for their district.

Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at St. John's Hall, Deep Cove; the Legion hall on Mills Road; and the Experimental Farm pavilion at Nanaimo.

Returning officer Lewis Harvey said 1,841 residents are eligible to vote.

Complaints Follow Parade

By TONY DILLON-DAVIS

Complaints, complaints, that's all we hear—complaints.

Directors of the Greater Victoria Celebrations Association heard plenty of complaints about the May 24 parade Wednesday.

Some of them: too many bands, too many gaps, too small a saluting base.

ONE DECORATED

A radio station put six cars in the decorated cars section, but only decorated one of them.

"I feel that if the radio stations and newspapers can't live up to regulations, how can you expect the general public to?" commented director Brian White. (The press wasn't involved in the parade.)

Mr. Wright said the parade needed more marshals to counteract breaches of regulations by parade entries.

"Some way must be found to guard the beginning of the parade route to stop unauthorized persons from entering the parade," said chairman John Watts.

The directors recommended that no cars but those belonging to parade entrants should be allowed at the assembly area.

"Once you start to let others in, you have chaos," said Mr. Wright.

Director Arthur Mebbes said the saluting base was too small.

"Men ended up standing."

ACROSS THE ROAD

"I've had five complaints from entries about the fact the judges stand was across the road from the saluting base," Mr. Wright said.

"How can you perform for the judges and make an eye-right to the saluting base at the same time?"

The directors recommended that the two be separated.

The association also received

410 Register For Tennis

A total of 410 Victoria youngsters had registered for the city parks summer junior tennis program, by the closing day Tuesday.

The program will begin June 28 in the three tennis courts under construction in Beacon Hill Park.

Hours and days for each group will be announced.

complaints about the way it took care of the marshalling area, Mayfair Shopping Centre.

"One American student, carrying a big horn, lost his balance and fell through a window," Ed MacFayden said.

NEVER APPEARED

"One band stopped for no reason at all and allowed a gap to open in front of them deliberately. It was for effect, I guess. They thought they would look nicer coming up after a long gap," Mr. Watts said.

"This all reverts to manpower. We were promised it, but it never appeared," said Mr. Wright.

The association received complaints about the number of bands.

HARD LOOK

"You can't please them all," Mr. MacFayden said.

The directors recommended that next year's directors "take a hard look at the closing date, selection and number of bands from the U.S."

The directors also recommended that the organization float section of the parade be divided into junior and senior sections.

THE GREATEST SELECTION IN THE WEST AT WOODWARD'S FOOD FLOORS

Bad Day for Mayors and Such

Wednesday was a bad day for some mayors and municipal officials. The details:

● BUFFALO, N.Y.—Mayor Chester Kowal, 60, indicted Tuesday on charges of conspiracy and taking unlawful fees, was in fair condition in hospital after taking pills. His stomach was pumped.

● OKLAHOMA CITY—Former mayor O. S. Carroll, 60, was convicted on three counts of perjury arising from a probe of state supreme court justices' financial dealings.

● COQUITLAM, B.C.—Assessor William Joyce and municipal clerk Frank Pelt were suspended and building inspector Neil Wainman was reprimanded following a probe of complaints about a proposed subdivision of municipal land.

● BARRIE, Ont.—Willie Cramp, former mayor of Orillia, was found not guilty of three charges of municipal corruption involving Northern Ontario Natural Gas share transactions in 1954.

● MADRID—Actress Kim Novak announced she expects a baby about Christmas time. She and British actor Michael Jackson were married in February.

● LAS VEGAS—Singer Judy Garland, 43, making her first Las Vegas appearance in more than three years, received a standing ovation hours after she left hospital following treatment for an allergic reaction to medicine.

● VANCOUVER—His wife and son paid a $1,000 fine imposed on public relations man Al Williamson, 40, in the Dear Hal letter case. His six-month term would have been doubled had the fine not been paid.

● OSLO—A Norwegian court gave air force Capt. Kristen Gjovene 12 years in prison for giving important NATO secrets to Russia. He was called the most dangerous Soviet spy in Norwegian history.

● SCOTTSDALE, Ariz.—Harry Goldwater says he will try to regain a seat in the U.S. Senate in 1968 even if it means running against an old friend, Democrat Carl Hayden.

● MILDENHALL, England—A 16-inch-long bulldog pup named Polly swallowed a 12-inch long steel poker. Her owner, Mrs. Joyce Nunn, paid $25 for an operation—and got Polly back in good condition.

● TORONTO—Two young brothers died in hospital, apparently of lead poisoning, and police seized supplies of a frozen paraffin cake from a suburban store. Thomas Burke, 2, and his brother Glen, 3, were the only children of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Burke.

● GLASGOW—A performance by the Rolling Stones group ended with 25 girls unconscious and 50 boys in jail. The girls fainted inside the hall, the boys were arrested in mob scenes outside.

● VATICAN CITY—Pope Paul named Archbishop Cadi, 57, of New Orleans the new archbishop of Chicago, the largest Catholic archdiocese in the U.S. He brought about desegregation of Catholic schools in New Orleans.

● TORONTO—Albert (Bobby) Dorland, Canada's No. 1 criminal in 1954 for what was alleged to be his part in a nationwide and is expected to become the next U.S. cardinal.

● TURKEY—John Dwyer, last of the famed Navajo Indian scouts, is dead at 95. He was one of five scouts for the U.S. cavalry who helped in the capture of Geronimo in 1885.

● TORONTO—Albert (Bobby) Dorland, Canada's No. 1 criminal in 1954 for what was alleged to be his part in a nationwide narcotics racket, died virtually unnoticed in hospital at 60.

● ST. BONIFACE, Man.—Tom Mackie, 12, lost his right eye after a homemade rocket exploded.

● LONDON—Prime Minister Wilson said the possibility that Rhodesia might declare independence unilaterally, resulting in a Cossack-type bloodbath, has receded into the background.

● WASHINGTON—The U.S. House banking committee approved legislation which would force the Alfred I. Du Pont estate to disassemble part of its $300,000,000 financial empire.

● TORONTO—Donald Russell, who once earned more than $30,000 a year as a magazine sales executive, was sentenced to 11 years on six counts of robbery and one of attempted robbery. Magistrate Donald Graham said he took into account the fact Russell committed all the robberies with a toy pistol. He got $18,000.

● OTTAWA—Finance Minister Gordon announced the government's new $325,000,000 bond issue offered Monday was oversubscribed.

● SANTA ANA, Calif.—Cartoonist Barr Shaler, 65, whose fictional J. Wesley Smith bumbled through history for years in The Saturday Review, died in hospital.

● TEHRAN—Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, exiled monarch of Iran, was shot at dawn with three of his accomplices.

● CAIRO—Field Marshal Anis el-Masri, who commanded Egypt's "liberation battalions" in the Suez crisis, died at 57.

● ROME—U.S. composer Gian Carlo Menotti says his Festival of Two Worlds, which opens June 24 at Spoleto, north of Rome, will feature a ballet with music by Sam Fend, the expatriate American poet.

● NEW YORK—Walter Thayer, president of the New York Herald Tribune, denied a report of negotiations for the merger of that paper with two other New York papers, the Journal American and the World-Telegram and The Sun.

Pastor Poses 'Proper' Nude

LONDON (UPI)—A 35-year-old Unitarian minister Wednesday posed a young, beautiful and nude girl as he would like to see her photographed. It was part of a demonstration aimed at removing guilt feelings about sex.

The Rev. David Doel personally supervised the camera session. It was the climax to his campaign protesting that nudes in pulp magazines are not permitted to be as daring as great works of art.

FEELINGS OF GUILT

This, he said, encouraged feelings of guilt about sex. So Wednesday he accepted the challenge of a magazine to pose a nude girl as he would like to see her photographed.

Mr. Doel, from Hindley in Lancashire, said a nude was no more extraordinary than an animal or a tree. As he spoke

Murder Case Delayed

David Robinson, 234 Island Highway, was remanded for another week when he appeared in court Wednesday. He has been charged with the murder of 14-year-old Susan Freschi May 12. The prosecution is not yet ready to launch its case against the 24-year-old "anitor. It is possible the date for preliminary hearing may be set when Robinson appears next.

FUND RAST 200

A memorial fund for the murdered girl, meanwhile, has passed the $300 mark.

The fund, started by Felicity Earnshaw, 2637 Chilo Road, has reached a total of $300.97. Susan lived with Felicity and her aunt, Mrs. Gladys Earnshaw.

"We are very grateful and wish to express our thanks to all the fine friends of Susan," said Mrs. Earnshaw.

The money will be donated to UNICEF.

Woman Placed On Bond

Marianne Thompson, no fixed address, was placed on $250 bond to be of good behavior for six months in city magistrate's court Wednesday.

She had pleaded guilty to theft under $50 in an earlier appearance after she had been caught leaving the Hudson's Bay Company with a number of shirts.

Colin Moleworth, 1176 Yates, was found guilty of careless driving and fined $35. Court was told he had been weaving in and out of traffic on Douglas Street, and that he went through two red lights on his motorcycle.

U.S. Cutting Excise Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate-House conferences agreed on a $4,600,000,000 tax cut bill wiping out most of the U.S. excise dating from wartime and the depression years of the 1930s. Congressional leaders said they hope the House of Representatives will act as soon as it convenes today and the Senate will follow.

Chamberlain Cleared

TV Singer's Stagger More Like a Limp

HALIFAX (UPI)—Television personality Charlie Chamberlain appeared in court Wednesday on a charge of impaired driving.

The arresting constable said the accused "didn't seem the same old Charlie Chamberlain."

In referring to the "stagger" which seemed to affect Chamberlain at the time of the arrest, the defence claimed an old leg injury.

Magistrate Eric Murray said that, in view of the lack of evidence and the doubt that existed, the case was dismissed. Chamberlain left the court, as he arrived, with the aid of a shilleagh.

Third Pig's Liver Keeps Woman Alive

BOSTON (AP)—A research team has made use of a third pig's liver in its battle to save the life of a 34-year-old Boston woman critically ill with a diseased liver.

For the third time in five days, the patient's blood was diverted through a pig's liver to cleanse the blood and give her own liver a chance to rest.

The procedure, known as perfusion, was repeated twice over the weekend with encouraging results.

Before the treatment was tried again Tuesday night, the LONDON (AP)—Britain's two television networks have shelved plans for Early Bird satellite transmissions because of the cost, official sources said Wednesday.

Both the publicly-owned BBC and the independent commercial network said they now have no plans to bring in programs from the United States and Canada via the satellite.

At the moment, use of the satellite is free and will remain so until its experimental testing period ends in two weeks' time. But the British post office is demanding a fee for use by television networks of its Goomhill station in Cornwall, through which Early Bird transmissions are brought in.

Film Today

A film Mosport 200 will be shown at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Victoria at 7:30 a.m. today at the Tally-Ho Hotel.

Early Bird Too Costly for U.K.

This fee originally was fixed at £2,000 an hour for off-peak time. It has now been reduced to £1,000, but the networks still are not buying.

The BBC said that, because of the post office charges, it avoided using Early Bird when it was available Monday, and will not use it when it becomes available again next Monday.

With the fees to be charged by Communications Satellite Corp., the U.S.-controlled consortium, Early Bird is likely to cost television networks about £7,000 an hour.

Doctors Favor Valid Sterilizing

By UPI, CP
HALIFAX — The Canadian Medical Association went on record Wednesday as stating "sterilization is ethical when carried out for valid reasons."

The CMA's general council unanimously approved findings of the committee of ethics on the topic of sterilization.

The report said the operation should only be performed after adequate medical consultation, and should not be performed on a patient of religious or moral convictions of the patient or a legal guardian.

In the report of the committee on maternal welfare, chairman Dr. M. G. Tomkins of Halifax said the committee was against voluntary sterilization when it was carried out on "non-medical grounds," but the CMA indicated a "yes" when it was carried out for a medical purpose.

Sterilization in the male was, in the committee's opinion, neither ethical or unethical per se, but when the health or life of the female is endangered, it would be ethical for voluntary sterilization of the husband.

The general council carried the committee of maternal welfare's recommendation that the CMA withdraw its stand on amending the Criminal Code in respect to contraception to make it more explicit, and asked the Canadian Bar Association to consider supporting such an amendment of the Criminal Code and contraception.

Doctors who persist in smoking cigarettes should do it in private so they don't give a bad example to the public, the association was told.

The CMA's general council approved a resolution asking individual physicians who still smoke cigarettes to consider the adverse effect of the habit on the public and their patients.

The association instructed the committee on cancer to consider prohibiting smoking in hospitals, having tobacco included in the Food and Drug Act, and evaluation of the tobacco manufacturing advertising code.

Testing of all newborn infants before they leave hospital for changes in metabolism that might result in mental retardation was recommended Wednesday.

This should be established as routine hospital procedure, the association agreed, and laboratory service and appropriate follow-up programs should be developed for the purpose.

Drug Foundation Faces Cash Crisis

Medical Plan Next Year?

OTTAWA (CP) — John Munro, parliamentary assistant to Health Minister Judy LaMarsh, said Tuesday it is possible Canada will have a medical care program in 1966.

It would all depend, on the outcome of a federal-provincial meeting here this month.

Federal-provincial agreement was necessary before such a program. If it came at the conference, it would be possible to have a program by next year.

Deformity Cause Sought

OTTAWA (CP) — Health Minister LaMarsh said Wednesday the health department would investigate a Quebec doctor's comments that factors other than thalidomide may be causing deformities at birth.

Dr. Gustave Giguere told the Canadian Medical Association in Halifax Tuesday some of the 1,100 birth deformities in Quebec last year couldn't be explained by thalidomide but doctors were unable to provide another explanation.

Jet Missed

DENVER (UPI) — A huge United Air Lines Boeing 727 jet slid off a runway at Stapleton International Airport after landing in a heavy thunderstorm. None of the 80 people aboard the plane was injured.

VANCOUVER (CP) — The government sponsored Narcotic Addiction Foundation, with a proven record of keeping addicts off narcotics, is facing a crisis because of lack of provincial and federal funds.

The "incurable" lack of assistance from Ottawa and the necessity of raising an additional $30,000 from the province above grants already received were mentioned in the annual report of the foundation Tuesday.

Foundation reports show that after nine years it has finally developed the necessary professional staff to make an effective assault on the problem, but director H. F. Hoskin said the foundation is at crossroads and must either advance or curtail services and become purely a research organization.

First 'Instant Municipality' Born

By A. H. MURPHY

British Columbia's first "instant municipality" was born Wednesday when Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes presented letters patent to the brand new reeve of Port Alice.

Present at the event was Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell, who has acted as mid-wife in the long and involved negotiations which led to the "first" for the northern community.

Mr. Campbell presented Reeve John Van Der Elst with a comprehensive official town plan for the new district of Port Alice—a plan, he said, which had been tailored to the needs of the new community and approved by the provincial cabinet.

This is the first "instant municipality," but the minister said that there will probably be a dozen more before a year is out. Among the others now organizing are Port Hardy, Port Moller, Kelsey Bay and Gold River.

"Nowhere else in Canada, in fact in the world, is there an 'instant municipality.' This is a first they can't take away from you," Mr. Campbell told the Port Alice audience.

The plan, developed in discussions with labor, management and government officials, covers a five-mile stretch of shore on the east side of Neerutux Inlet on northern Vancouver Island.

To the south is Port Alice, with its large Rayonier of Canada cellulose mill, named as an industrial area.

Campbell, Pearkes and Van Der Elst

Model Townsite

Two miles north on the shore is Rumble Beach, where a model townsite has been planned complete with schools and shopping and recreation centre. Along with the beach at the townsite are two islands which have been reserved for recreation.

A mile further north is Jeune Landing, a logging community which is to be used for industrial use.

The lieutenant-governor arrived at Port Alice on Tuesday for the concluding call in his annual tour of up-island points and remote villages. He came aboard HMCS Mackinac, moored at the industrial wharf in the community.

Mr. Campbell went on to a meeting in Port Hardy—a meeting on the subject of "instant municipalities."

The Port Alice incorporation is unique in that the plan has been in the hands of local people from its inception. Mr. Campbell said. There have been towns started by firms and then turned over to the council, but in this instance the whole effort came from the people themselves.

Port Alice has existed since 1917. The name "Alice" is said to have been derived from the wife of one of the first industrial plant managers.

Big Improvement

A vice-president of the cellulose operation, Keith La Barge, said the term "company town" had come to have an unpleasant connotation and had many shortcomings for the people who lived in them. He felt the establishment of a council would be a big improvement.

Plant manager J. W. Fraser pledged management's support in making the new system run.

The lieutenant-governor wished the new community well and explained letters patent as an outline of the regulations under which the new community will function. It has been worked out co-operatively and his signature indicates in a sense, that the new municipality has the blessing of the Queen.

Mr. Pearkes was presented with a photograph of Port Alice.

Appropriate Name

On Wednesday, the day that Port Alice celebrated its emergence as the first "instant municipality" in B.C., a baby was born in the local hospital.

"When I heard that, I said I would suggest to the parents that he be called Instant," said Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes, who was inspecting the hospital.

Frost-Hit Farmers Get Help from B.C.

The provincial cabinet set aside $175,000 Wednesday for payments to Okanagan orchardists hit by severe frosts last winter.

The government will pay strawberry growers up to $30 per 1,000 for the first 35,000 plants replaced and $10 per 1,000 for the next 35,000. No aid will be given beyond 70,000 replacements.

Strawberry propagators will get up to $30 per 1,000 plants for foundation stock and $15 per 1,000 for certified stock.

PEACH, apricot, cherry and grape growers replacing plants will be paid up to $1 a tree on 50 per cent of the replacements and 25 cents for each new grape plant stock. However, a limit of $1,000 a farm will apply.

The cabinet order says the help will be given to farm units where damage to plants and trees will affect more than one-third of the farmer's gross income.

Direct loss to the orchardists from the frosts has been estimated at $5,000,000. The losses were worst on the agriculture department's record books, which go back to 1928.

Some Progress Made Against Airport Birds

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Vancouver wildlife expert says progress is being made in making Canada's airports unattractive to birds.

"But until aircraft are made birdproof" collisions will continue said Robert D. Harris, of the Canadian Wildlife Service.

He told the Cooper Ornithological Society Wednesday airplanes and helicopters have collided with birds ranging in size from the one - ounce swamp sparrow to the great blue heron, and have been damaged in the process.

148 CRASHES

One commercial airline recorded 148 bird-plane collisions across Canada in 1963, he said.

Retaliation measures have included the use of trained hawks, flares, strung wires and burning off vegetation around airports.

Mr. Harris said a particularly promising idea is the use of radar to warn airport control tower operators of flocks of migrating birds.

AT 17,000 FEET

Mr. Harris said the highest birds have been detected in Canada is 17,000 feet, the height at which a pilot saw migrating birds near Hope, B.C., a few months ago.

Moving garbage dumps at least five miles from airports had been effective in getting rid of gulls.

"Trained falcons have been used experimentally to chase gulls from airfields," he said.

"The technique was quite successful as a scare method, but implementing it on several busy airports across the country seemed impractical and it was discarded."

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor George R. Pearkes will attend a reception Friday at the summer home of Major Cuthbert Holmes at Maltby Lake. The affair is being given by the United Services Institute of British Columbia to mark the occasion of the 150th anniversary of the Battle of Waterloo.

Saturday, the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Pearkes will cross to Vancouver where they will attend horse racing sponsored by the British Columbia Jockey Club. The Lieutenant-Governor will decorate the winner of the Lieutenant-Governor's handicap race. Later in the evening His Honor and Mrs. Pearkes will attend the Angels' dinner and ball, given by the National Council of Jewish Women of Canada, Vancouver section, in the Hotel Vancouver.

Leaving for East

Mr. and Mrs. Dermott K. Crofton, "Winifred," Ganges, will leave on Friday for Halifax, where they will visit their son and daughter-in-law, Lieut. and Mrs. P. D. Crofton, and their son-in-law and daughter, Lieut. and Mrs. R. M. Scott. During their absence their home will be occupied by Mr. Crofton's sister, Miss Denise Crofton, and nephew, Barry Crofton.

For Jean Falconer

Mrs. J. R. Fraser, Mrs. James Gallagher and Mrs. W. J. Gallagher were hostesses for a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Jean Falconer, June bride-elect. A large box decorated with pink and white ribbons held the shower gifts. Other guests were Mrs. Violet McKinn, Miss Marion Jacura, Mrs. Helen Enrick, Mrs. Isabelle Chernoff, Mrs. Maurice Chernoff, Mrs. L. Morrison, Mrs. Pat Robson, Mrs. Steve Legato, Mrs. Madge Barnes, Mrs. Essie MacGillivray, Mrs. J. W. Bell, Mrs. R. M. For Sandra Glover

Mrs. C. Fleming and Miss Lyn Tupper were co-hostesses at a surprise shower party honoring Miss Sandra Glover, July bride-elect. Cakes were presented to Sandra, her mother, Mrs. Ronald Glover and the groom's mother, Mrs. Berdett Lasing. The gifts were arranged in a decorated basket presided over by a comic doll made of a floor mop and rubber gloves. Those attending were Mrs. F. Tupper, Mrs. W. Heinrich, Mrs. A. Breckenridge, Mrs. A. McClure, Miss Sharon McClure, Mrs. C. Hudson, Mrs. A. Sparks, Mrs. H. Rawnsley, Miss Sandra Rawnsley, Mrs. E. Bowles, Mrs. J. Fletcher, Mrs. F. Bonina, Mrs. C. Haggerty, Miss Darylene Haggerty, Mrs. E. Lasing, Mrs. R. Glover and Miss Mary Ann Glover. A bride's book was made during the evening.

Dress and little bolero are from Fernanda Gattinoni of Rome. The material is soft white silk with a printed design in black. Black ribbon accentuates the cut of the jacket. The hat, also made by Gattinoni, is made up of tightly looped black satin ribbon.

Forthcoming Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Baragas of Armstrong, B.C., announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Wendy Joyce, to Mr. Charles Thomas Curteis, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Curteis, Victoria. The wedding will take place at 1:30 p.m., June 26, in St. Joseph's Church, Armstrong. Father E. Connellan will officiate.

Gala Annual Affair

Dogwood Festival Nets Over $1,800

Yesterday's typical June day brought friends and supporters of the Veterans' Hospital out in droves for the annual Dogwood Festival sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary to the hospital and close to $1,800 was realized at the successful event.

The attractive grounds at the hospital provided a fitting setting for the gala affair held under the patronage of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Pearkes and Premier W. A. C. Bennett and Mrs. Bennett.

Mrs. Pearkes was guest of honor at the festival which was opened by Mrs. D. E. Alcorn. Other special guests were Alderman Mrs. Lily Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Roy T. Loughheed and Lieut.-Cmdr. and Mrs. E. E. Casella.

Among those sharing in the fun were some of the veterans at the hospital, who had come out to visit with their friends, and to enjoy the entertainment provided by HMCS Naden Band.

Centring the tea table set up in the Red Cross Lodge for the special guests was an attractive arrangement of pink carnations, white baby chrysanthemums and snapdragons. The dogwood motif was carried out in the dainty serviettes. Mrs. John S. Adam and Mrs. W. L. Coke poured tea.

Tea tables were set up on the lawn and servitors replenished their trays with delicious cakes and sandwiches from the outdoor kitchen under the huge marquees.

Mrs. B. B. Bowen and Mrs. R. P. Pender were conveners. Receiving the guests was Mrs. H. F. Jarvis, president. Afternoon tea was conversed by Mrs. M. Smythe who was assisted by Mrs. A. Begg.

In charge of the various stalls were Mrs. E. Elliott and Mrs. C. L. Pullen, sewing and needlework; Mrs. G. Baker, Mrs. A. R. Minus, Mrs. N. Chole, Mrs. E. Hewitt, Mrs. R. Alder and Mrs. E. Newlyweds to Make Home in Bermuda

Attractive arrangements of gladioli, carnations and red roses decorated the Sooke Road home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Bergman for the candlelight ceremony uniting in marriage their daughter, Solveig Ruth Alice Bergman and Mr. David J. McClelland, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McClelland, 3463 Whittier Avenue. Rev. C. C. Jamieson officiated at the recent wedding.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor-length gown of white nylon organza over tulle with a wattle train of shantung lace. Her four-tiered illusion net veil was held in place by white organza roses. Her only jewelry was a double strand of pearls and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white stephanotis.

Mrs. R. Lewis, matron of honor, as her only attendant, was in a pale green tulle gown with matching ribbon headpiece. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Mr. Erik Bergman was best man.

Mr. W. L. Dempsey proposed the toast to the bride at the reception which followed in Sooke Harbour House. Centring the bride's table was a two-tiered cake flanked by red and white carnations. Robbie Dempsey was in charge of the guest book.

The bride sent her bouquet to her grandmother, Mrs. A. Peterson in Parais, Sweden. The newlyweds will be leaving shortly for Bermuda where they will make their home.

Mr. E. Sandberg of Vancouver and Mr. and Mrs. O. Herrdin of Courtenay, were among the guests.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: My wife is Pennsylvania Dutch. They are supposed to be the cleanest people on the face of the earth and my wife is determined to prove it. In the meantime the kids and I are like in jail. Our carpets have never been walked on. She has knitted booties in all sizes for everybody. Every person who comes into our home has to park his shoes by the door.

Nobody has ever seen our lovely furniture because my wife has draped sheets over everything. If you offered me $10 right now to tell you the color of our sofa I couldn't do it.

I don't expect an answer because this is one problem for which there is no solution. I just want you to print my letter so the guys with sloppy wives will realize that maybe they haven't got it so bad after all.—GERM FREE.

Dear GERM: Your wife is more than neat. She has strided in the noodle. My condolences to you and the kids.

Dear Ann Landers: I am the mother of a 17-year-old boy. Last night he came home drunk. I don't know where he got the stuff but I am to find out. When I do, somebody is going to get slapped with an arrest for selling liquor to a minor.

My husband and I have tried to raise this boy to be a fine citizen. We go to church together every Sunday and set a good example. What are parents to do, Ann, when their children go off the track?

What makes kids want to drink? Surely they don't need the lift. Most teenagers have so much energy they don't know what to do with it. Must someone get killed in an automobile accident before they learn that alcohol can be deadly?

To our knowledge this is the first time our son has ever touched liquor. How can we be sure it will be the last?—HEARTSICK MOTHER.

Dear Mother: You can NEVER be sure, no matter what you do or say. There are no easy answers or sure-fire solutions to this one.

If you lined up six teenagers who drink and asked them, "Why do you drink?" you could get six different answers.

Screaming, threatening, and even punishment are not, in my opinion, effective methods of dealing with the problem. This closes the arteries of communication. Parents should let their children know they love them, trust them and have faith in them. Children who are brought up to think well of themselves usually turn out to be the kind of people others will think well of, too.

English First Choice

MONTREAL (CP) — English is the first choice of students in underdeveloped countries, says Dr. Monika Kehoe, here to set up Canada's first course in training teachers of English as a second language, at Marist College. English is spoken in more countries of the world than any other language, she said.

Refreshing drinks for summer

Fruit for Cold Drinks

When the days and evenings are hot and sticky and the whole world seems to be in drought, you can wish your way to a tropical island as you sip one of these cooling drinks straight from the refrigerator.

Prepared in advance, they can only get cooler as they wait for thirsty throats.

One 48-oz. can fruit punch, 1/4 cup of lemon juice, 1 30-oz. bottle of ginger ale.

ICED RASPBERRY LONG DRINK

Three cups of raspberries, 1/4 cup of powdered sugar, 1 bottle of beer, 2 lemons, crushed ice.

Reduce the raspberries and lemons to a juice. Sugar the rim of each glass by dipping in lemon juice and then in sugar. Fill each glass to half with crushed ice. Pour in the raspberry-lemon juice to cover the ice. Fill with chilled beer and serve at once.

COCKTAIL BONFEMME (serves six)

One-oz. fresh lemon juice, 2 bottles of beer, pinch of ginger, cinnamon bark.

Boil the beer, pinch of ginger and the cinnamon bark for three minutes. Pour in the lemon juice and continue boiling for one minute. Pass through a fine sieve and refrigerate for at least two hours. Serve cold.

FARMHOUSE LEMONADE

Three cups sugar, 2 cups water, 1 cup lemon juice, 2 tablespoons grated lemon rind.

Boil the sugar and water together for 5 minutes, then add the lemon juice and lemon rind, and continue to boil for 3 minutes. Pour into a scalded sterilized, cover and store in the refrigerator.

To serve, pour the syrup into a glass until the glass is 3/4 full.

then add ice and cold water. Stir and garnish with lemon slice and a cherry. This syrup will make about 20 average-size drinks.

One bottle of beer, 1 bottle of ginger beer or lemonade.

Chill the beer and the ginger beer. Fill the glasses to half with beer and the remainder with ginger beer or lemonade. Serve immediately.

BERMUDA MILK SHAKE

Three-quarters cup mashed, ripe bananas, 1/4 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup instant dried milk, 2 cups cold water, 1/2 pint vanilla ice cream.

Beat the bananas, vanilla and instant dried milk with an electric beater until the mixture is smooth. Gradually stir in the cold water, then add the vanilla ice cream. Beat again until smooth. Refrigerate and serve ice cold.

Bride-Elect Honored At Sooke

To honor Miss Marjorie Elrose, whose marriage to Mr. Terry Evans takes place June 26 in Victoria, a bridal shower was held in the Sooke Coffee Shop dining room.

Floral decorations were attractively arranged about the reception room.

Honorary were Mrs. J. Esary, Mrs. B. Johnson, Mrs. Cynthia Martin, Mrs. C. Montgomery, Mrs. Roy Montgomery, Mrs. H. Montgomery, Mrs. William Newman and Miss Joan Perry.

The Misses Michelle and Linda Montgomery presented the gifts to Miss Elrose.

Guests were Mrs. J. Gibson, Mrs. Arthur Brooks, Mrs. William McClintock, Mrs. D. McClintock, Mrs. E. Nixon, Mrs. R. G. Nixon, Mrs. M. West, Mrs. N. Baskerville, Mrs. J. Carosella, Mrs. M. Lambert, Mrs. C. White, Mrs. William Eddy, Mrs. I. Wood, Mrs. H. Nichol, Mrs. N. Caffery, Mrs. M. Lindley, Mrs. R. Hughes, Mrs. J. Robinson, Mrs. G. A. Acreman, Mrs. J. Acreman, Mrs. B. French, Mrs. P. Phillips, Mrs. T. Money, Mrs. J. A. Hay, Mrs. M. Waters, Mrs. D. Locke, Mrs. E. Stoth, Mrs. F. Acreman and the Misses Barbara Clowes and Glenda Hughes.

Island WI Visits Solarium

FULFORD—Mrs. W. Y. Stewart was hostess to the members of the South Saltspring Island Women's Institute when the last meeting of the season was held. Mrs. R. Lee, president, welcomed the members and one guest and former member, Mrs. V. Grant, now of Deep Bay district.

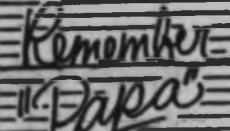

The recent visit to the solarium by 12 of the members was reported as a great success. The small recipe books, made by the children and containing their favorite recipes and sold to the staff for their Red Cross Fund, were admired by the visitors.

Invitations to the other branches of the WI will be sent inviting them to attend the raspberry tea on July 22 at the Fulford Hall.

A cheque for $50 will be sent to the Lions' Pioneer Village Fund.

POP'S GOT IT COMING TO HIM!

For 104 days each year
No one pays much heed to Dad, your dear
He plods along daily, brings home the bacon
And then can't even sleep in on Sunday morning without somebody teasing in and hollering
"Auch!"

But one day a year he should have some fun
And that's this Sunday (at least, once!)
We have such a selection of gifts he'll want
There really isn't any reason that old Dad should go bare.

But if what to buy him is making you sleepless Here about a pair of our trim slacks, that are completely priceless!
Or if Dad's knees are remotely respectable
Some Bermuda shorts should be most acceptable.
An Arrow summer shirt, maybe, or swim trunks by Jantzen?

Or one of our brand new Shirt-Joes he can wear outside his pants or in?
Or how's for an elegant suit of pajamas
To rest Daddy's head, or even Mama's?
A Tie? A bow, or slim-fun tops?
We have the just-made-for-him type.
If Dad likes a belt (and the kind you drink)
He'll flip for one of ours—we think.

You may call him "Father" or "Daddy" or "Pop"
Regardless...we're sure you think he is tops.
And richly deserving of some thoughtful present
That WATSON'S has, that Daddy hasn't.

SHOW HIM YOU CARE...
Give Him Something to Wear!

Northern Students Feel School No Help to Them

YELLOWKNIFE (CP)—Many youngsters who go through school in the Northwest Territories can't get a job and as a result feel school has done them no good, the district school superintendent for the Territories said Wednesday.

B. C. Gillie of Fort Smith, former principal of S. J. Willis School in Victoria, said it is not yet generally realized many young people will have to go outside the Territories if they want work after completing their education.

"The problem of unemployment is particularly noticeable among young people who go back to their small communities after finishing school," he said.

White Man

In effect, their employment situation there is no better than if they had not finished school.

"The Indians and Eskimos then say the white man told them to go to school and it didn't do any good. This attitude contributes to poor school attendance."

Mr. Gillie appeared before the Northwest Territories Council's semi-annual meeting to support a bill permitting the appointment of transient officers.

School attendance has improved over the last three years but still is a problem, particularly in larger settlements, he said.

No Room

"In the Mackenzie district, about one-tenth of school-age children are not in school. About 8,000 are going to school."

"Of course, if every territorial youngster showed up for school tomorrow, we wouldn't be able to accommodate them."

School facilities are not expected to be adequate in the Territories until 1970, he said.

In addition to the shaky employment situation, Mr. Gillie said, youngsters stay home from school because of their parents' casual attitude toward education and the fact they may be needed on trappings or helping in other ways at home.

Won't Work

He said trying to force children to go to school will not work.

"Just because we get a youngster to a school building and sit him at a desk doesn't mean we are educating him."

"One reason many children

don't want to go to school is because they can't succeed there. We must continue developing special programs in which they can succeed."

The school bus driver in Fort Smith now is the Territories' sole transient officer.

Compulsory

Education in the Territories is compulsory, but the only facilities for many children are at residential hostels, sometimes hundreds of miles from where they live. Parents are not compelled to send their children to a hostel.

Despite the hurdles to schooling, Mr. Gillie said, the situation is dramatically better than 10 years ago, when less than 15 per cent of Territories children were in school.

Jobs Compatible?

Probe Gunderson's Roles

KAMLOOPS (CP)—Einar Gunderson's dual role as provincial government official and head of the Social Credit party fund should be probed by a royal commission, a British Columbia MLA said Tuesday.

Gordon Dowling, New Democratic MLA for Burnaby, told an open meeting here he is going to urge a government-appointed commission to investigate Mr. Gunderson's position as head of a political fund called the B.C. Free Enterprise Education Fund and director of three provincial crown corporations.

Mr. Dowling said Mr. Gunderson cannot act on these two roles at the same time without suspicion of conflict of interest.

"Either Mr. Gunderson resigns or someone independent looks into his role to see if it is compatible with democratic government," he said.

Mr. Gunderson's position as Social Credit fund caretaker came out this month at the forgery trial of public relations man Al Williamson.

Williamson was sentenced to six months in jail and fined $1,000 for forging and sending a letter purportedly from Premier Bennett to prime ministerial aide Hal Dornan. The letter sought landed immigrant status for American millionaire Harry Stonehill.

Mr. Dowling said although Mr. Bennett had denied knowledge of the letter, both the premier and Mr. Gunderson "were involved in the Stonehill case."

Victoria Meter Men May Add Time Zone

Meter men in the city may have greater powers if city council agrees with a recommendation of the city traffic committee.

Council will be asked to ratify a decision to allow the Canadian Corps of Commissioners' meter patrol to check cars parked on one-hour zones on Wharf Street, and issue tickets for violations. Now they check meters only.

Divorce Rate Up Again In Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's divorce rate—the number of divorces per 100,000 of population—took another sharp upward swing last year, the bureau of statistics said Wednesday.

It reported the number of divorces granted last year by Parliament and by provincial and territorial courts reached a record 8,388.

This was 44.7 per 100,000 of population. The rate in the two previous years was 40.7 and 36.4. It has been rising steadily since 1961 when it stood at 36.8, the lowest since 1944.

B.C. A LEADER

The divorce rate swung after the Second World War to an all-time peak of 65.4 per 100,000 population in 1946, then fell rapidly in the following three years.

Ontario, B.C. and Alberta accounted for 6,459 divorces last year, three quarters of the 1964 total.

B.C. had the second highest rates, to Alberta, among the provinces. Its 1,566 divorces represented 51.8 per 100,000 population last year, up from rates of 45.8 to 49.8 in the three previous years.

Li'l Abner Coming To Art Gallery

Mrs. Fred Cornielle and art

The work of comic strip cartoonists will be on display at the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria during the next few weeks.

The cartoonists' work, ranging from James Gillray (1756-1815) to contemporary cartoonist Rube Goldberg, including the cartoonist's Li'l Abner, will be on display from Friday until July 4.

LEADING TALENTS

The display covers most of the leading talents of the English-speaking world from the late 18th century to our own day, said gallery director Colin Graham.

"Aesthetically speaking, the cartoon has led a precarious existence between the two polarities of drawing as an art form and drawing as illustration in the photographic sense," he said.

SENSE OF FORM

"The best cartoonists, however, have always been artists with a sense of form whose work carries an aesthetic as well as a humorous or satiric impact."

The exhibition, circulated by the Western Association of Museums and prepared by the San Francisco Museum of Art, is from the collection of James Ivey, well-known San Francisco cartoonist.

VICTORIA ARTIST

Another exhibition, starting June 22 to July 11, will feature drawings and watercolors of the Near and Far East by Victoria artist Vicky Husband.

The work was done during a round-the-world tour she took in 1963.

Miss Husband will give an illustrated lecture at 8:30 p.m. June 29 in the gallery.

ENDS SUNDAY

Another display currently on exhibit at the gallery is a selection of prints and drawings acquired by the National Gallery during 1962-64.

Summer Art Classes Start Soon

Handweaving and painting will be featured in classes to be held at the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria this summer.

Handweaving classes for youngsters between seven and 14 will begin July 1. The two classes of 12 students each will be taught by well-known Victoria weaver Florence Daniels.

Six classes of 14 students will begin painting classes on July 1 and July 27. The three-week sessions will consist of daily two-hour lessons and teachers will be Marilyn Strouts, Mrs. Sylvia Cuomo and Gillian Edgell.

Lunar Housing Model Unveiled

OTTAWA (CP)—A bubble-shaped prototype for Arctic and lunar housing which will enclose the United States Expo 67 exhibit has been unveiled.

U.S. officials said the 13-storey bubble design was experimental as well as functional because it was a prototype for enclosing communities either in arctic regions or on the moon.

U.S. Test Today Biggest Rocket Ready to Roar

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)

Titan 3C, the most powerful rocket ever assembled, goes to the firing line for the first time today in a test that could advance the United States a long way toward a military space capability.

The air force scheduled the launching of the mammoth booster for 11 a.m. EDT, but wet, cloudy skies which have plagued the cape all week could cause a delay.

The shot will be televised.

DUMMY SATELLITE

The Titan 3C, if successful, will orbit a 21,600-pound lead dummy satellite which could be the forerunner of manned and unmanned military space vehicles.

As the Titan 3C was readied, a Polaris A1 missile blasted off a land pad Wednesday and drilled through a heavy cloud mass in a successful test of a new star-tracking guidance system which might steer future missiles and spacecraft.

As the Polaris stabbed 400 miles into space, a telescope eye aboard the payload looked on the North Star and used it as a guidance reference. Such a system, which was developed by General Precision Inc., might be applied to mobile missiles, such as the Poseidon, the advanced submarine missile now on the drawing boards.

Titan 3C not only is the most powerful rocket ever brought to a launching pad, but it also is the most unusual looking. It actually is three rockets strapped together side by side for a total breadth of more than 30 feet.

LIQUID FUEL

The central rocket, a liquid fuel Titan 3A, stands 127 feet tall. It is flanked by two 85-foot solid rockets.

The two solids are to develop 2,400,000 pounds of thrust to push the central chamber to an altitude of about 25 miles, where it is to ignite.

Labor Condemns Student Workers

VANCOUVER (CP)—A labor organization Tuesday voted to condemn a non-union household help service launched by a group of university students.

Vancouver and District Labor Council took the action after being told Help Unlimited had offered to do the work of union tradesmen with a staff of high school students.

Brian Gibbs, a University of British Columbia student and partner in the venture, said Wednesday the group is not taking away union jobs.

"A lot of people don't want organized labor because it's too expensive. But we're not anti-union and don't intend to be. I don't think we're putting union people out of work."

He said his group does mostly garden chores, general repairs, painting and decorating. He and his partner, student Peter Brown, got a $2,000 bank loan to buy three small trucks, 10 power lawnmowers and other equipment.

He said they employ three other UBC students as supervisors and have a staff of about 40 high school students they can call to do jobs.

He said the workers earn from $1.25 to $2.25 an hour, supervisors $1.50 an hour, and the partners take what's left after expenses, usually about $1.50 an hour.

Garden Notes

Lawns Need Air

By M. V. CHESNUT

I have often wondered why grass springs up with such embarrassing vigor in gravel and cinder driveways, where you don't want it, while it is so difficult to get it happily established in the lawn.

I have been observing this phenomenon for some years now, and I believe the affinity of grass for cinders and gravel must be due to the excellent aeration and drainage you get in these materials.

We can draw a couple of useful conclusions from this. If I ever have occasion to put in a new lawn again, I shall most certainly spread a layer of weathered and crushed cinders or very small screened gravel over the site before my topsoil is spread. And if I had any choice of topsoils, I'd pick a rather sandy loam with lots of stones, pea size and smaller, mixed in. This would be combined with either peat moss or very old rotted manure to make up the top layer of my lawn site.

My present back lawn, which I inherited from the previous owner, is on heavy soil with a high proportion of clay in it, and this takes a terrible beating from children's play and all the other backyard traffic. The surface becomes beaten down and compacted, impervious to air or water, and the grass things out to an alarming degree until I get busy and do something about it.

Aeration is the answer to compacted soil. Punch holes through the sod all over the lawn to let water and air percolate through the crusted surface to the roots below. While it is possible to hire a man with a motor-driven aerating machine to do the job, the size of my back lawn hardly warrants this, so I do it myself by hand. I have two aerating implements. One is my root-aider, which fastens to the hose and digs the holes through the sod by water pressure. The other is a conventional hollow-tined aerating fork that punches three neat circular holes every time you push it down, depositing the cores on the surface where they crumble and disappear in a few days.

It is a long, strenuous and monotonous job to punch holes every six inches over the whole lawn, but I don't know of any one single operation that will produce such a dramatic improvement.

I do the job in the spring, as soon as the soil dries out enough for the fork to bring up clean-cut cores instead of sloppy mud, but the grass responds so gratefully, I can't resist talking another crack at it from time to time through the summer. In dry weather, I use the root-aider rather than the hollow-tine fork, as it irrigates the lower roots at the same time.

What with rain, watering and normal weathering, the holes fill up too quickly for my liking, and one good way to keep them open for the free entry of air and water is to fill them up with coarse sand. There is a grade available with very coarse grains and a lot of small stones in it, and by working this into the holes with an old broom, I am gradually bringing about a permanent improvement in my heavy clay soil.

Pretty soon I'll have grass as healthy and vigorous as the kind that springs up in gravel driveways!

Culture at White House, By ART BUCHWALD

Lyndon's Idea Escalates

WASHINGTON—Last Monday was Culture Day at the White House and it certainly was an impressive sight to see. There was sculpture on the lawn, paintings in the hall, singing in the East Room, dancing in the Rose Garden, and, except for George Bundy's daily briefing to the president, everyone had a wonderful time.

Nobody is quite sure how the White House Festival of the Arts came about, and now that it's over I can reveal the background.

One evening last winter President Johnson was reading a book. Suddenly he turned to Mrs. Johnson and said, "Say, this fellow Robert Lowell writes some mighty pretty poetry. We ought to have him over to the house for lunch."

Mrs. Johnson replied, "What a wonderful idea. Who should we invite with him?"

"How about that fellow Saul Bellow who wrote that best seller, 'Her', about my dog?"

"Her?", Lyndon, and it wasn't about your dog."

"Well, it reminded me of my dog."

"Why don't we have John Hersey?" Mrs. Johnson said.

"Did he write 'For Whom the Bell Tolls'?"

"No, Lyndon, he wrote 'A Bell for Adano'."

"Yeah, let's have him."

"We can't just have writers," Mrs. Johnson said. "Why don't we have some musicians?"

"Lady Bird, are you escalating on me again?"

"No, I'm not. But it would be sort of fun if we asked people from the other arts."

"You make up the list, Lady Bird, and I'll think of a nice toast after lunch."

A month later the president said, "You ever heard from Robert Lowell about lunch?"

"Not yet," Lady Bird said, "but I've invited the Louisville Symphony Orchestra, Marian Anderson, Helen Hayes, the cast of The Glass Menagerie, Duke Ellington, Gene Kelly and Charlton Heston."

"Gee, I'm not going to get much chance to talk to Robert Lowell, am I?"

"Now, Lyndon, you have to be nice to all the creative people. You can't just single out one poet."

"I guess you are right. I am the President of ALL artists."

"Speaking of artists, I've arranged to have not only the artists come, but they're going to send their pictures on ahead. I've made an art gallery out of the ground floor of the White House."

"Lady Bird, I wish you'd stick to planting rose bushes."

"Now, hush, Lyndon, and tell me where you want to put the sculpture."

"What sculpture?"

"We've got to show sculpture if we're going to show art."

"This lunch is getting out of hand. I think I'll send Hubert in my place."

"No, you won't. This is OUR party."

Several weeks before the big event, which had now become known as the White House Festival of the Arts, Mrs. Johnson said:

"Lyndon, I have something to tell you if you promise not to get mad."

"All right, I won't get mad."

"Robert Lowell doesn't want to come to lunch."

"Why not?" the president shouted.

"He doesn't like your foreign policy."

"Well, neither do I! But it's the only one I've got."

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Leslie Caron Jilted?

LONDON (NANA)—Leslie Caron did not accompany Warren Beatty to America and she has no present intention of joining him there.

In fact, the romance at this point is quite shaky. Warren gave Leslie a mere 20 minutes' notice of his intention of flying to the States, and said if she wanted to go with him that was okay. The lukewarm invitation irritated Miss Caron and she reportedly told a chum, "I'm quite sure he does not want to marry me or anybody."

If this is true, it marks the third time that Beatty has evaded the marital knot at the 11th hour. The other two were with Jean Seinfeld and Natalie Wood.

But this love affair with Leslie was different. He was named as co-producer in her divorce with British director Peter Hall, and he seemed as in love with Leslie as she told me in January, she was with him.

There is nothing controversial about Paul Anka. He's a nice young man, never fights with anyone. Just keeps singing and making more than $1,000,000 every year. All of which proves you don't have to be controversial to be a big hit. On the other hand, it wasn't until Richard Burton hit the headlines with Elizabeth Taylor that producers were willing to make him a movie millionaire.

Talking of Burton brings me to his Hamlet producer, Alexander H. Cohen. During lunch I learned that Cohen is the man to come to if you have anything the matter with you. The idea that actors are prone to have given the producers an "in" with doctors. "Although I was nearly at a loss when Richard Burton came down with something called rheumatism, during Hamlet. It turned out to be inflammation of a nerve root in the shoulder. The only thing that could kill the pain was morphine. In spite of which he was only out for five performances. He is one of the most professional men I've ever worked with."

Richard has what Cohen describes as a "theatrical temper." He'll rant and rave on the telephone, then put it down and say calmly, "now where were we?" Incidentally it was Alexander who mated all the arrangements for Burton-Taylor wedding in Canada.

Hayley Mills, as a gesture of good luck for father John Mills' first directing job, shed 10 pounds for their picture, Bats With Baby Faces. This is the most family picture yet made. Not only did Mrs. Mills, Mary Hayley Bell write the story in which Hayley is starred. But their dog has a good role as well.

There is an odd situation brewing with two of the stars of Flight of Phoenix. Jimmy Stewart is heading to Africa for a big game hunting safari when the picture is finished. Barry Krosser, who has another leading role, is dead set against the killing of animals. He owns a 1,000-acre preserve in Tanganyika, an animal sanctuary, to keep them safe from hunters.

Empathy Defined

By DR. STUART ROSENBERG

An old Malay once taught a British administrator a short but clever lesson. They were disputing whether to eat with tableware or with one's hands.

The Malay produced the clashing argument "I'm sure," he exclaimed, "that my fingers haven't been in anybody else's mouth. But I'm not so sure about your spoons!"

The lesson he taught is one westerners need to learn. It is a lesson in cultural empathy—and without the wisdom it imparts, we shall continue to have a rough time winning over the hearts of those outside our orbit.

We need to acquire the two skills which emerge from this interesting encounter:

● To understand the inner logic of the other fellow's way of thinking.

● The restraint not to judge his thinking as bad just because it is different from our own way.

Empathy is not merely a superficial matter of liking other people or patting the other fellow on the back, or passing resolutions or attending meetings. Rather, it is the result of activating our intellectual sensitivities so that we come to recognize the legitimate existence of valid traditions and cultural systems which are strange to us, as ours may be to others.

Once we alert our minds to this recognition, we need the good sense and the know-how to translate our attitudes into acts which will help the stranger feel at home with us.

This can happen only if we're not overwhelmed by his "strangeness" and do not mistake a man's right to his own way of life, with our need to justify our own as the best or the most likely to succeed.

North Americans, whose territory, customs and national advertising stretch out for so many thousands of unbounded miles, sometimes forget these things. The problem is illustrated by a comment from a U.S. Air Force man at a seminar on language training.

"I don't see why you're making such heavy weather of this language thing," he said, rather impatiently. "Why not do what we do around our air force bases in Morocco—just make everybody learn English?"

There was an embarrassed silence, broken at last by one who had a bit of temerity. "That takes care of their understanding us," he said calmly. "Now, what do we do about our understanding them?"

Unfortunately, some of us forget about every "them" as to begin—is now!

Teen-Age Offenders Get Drinks Warning

WILLIAMS LAKE (CP) — Magistrate J. A. Moffat warned Tuesday cars will be seized and forfeited to the Crown when teen-agers are caught drinking in them. He said such offenders will also receive maximum penalties in court.

Supreme Court

Jury Hears Denial Of Assault Charge

A Langford man charged with indecently assaulting a 13-year-old Saanich girl denied to police he had even laid a hand on her, a Supreme Court jury heard Wednesday.

Cpl. George Meyer of Colwood RCMP told the court that defendant Charles Wright had added: "I know better than to fool around with little girls."

IN TRUCK CAB

Wright, of 2517 Florence Lake Road, has pleaded not guilty to the offence, said by prosecution to have occurred on the evening of March 31 in the cab of a truck parked on Phelps Road.

At 6 a.m. the following day, RCMP called at Wright's house and arrested him.

Cpl. Meyer said Wright also told him he had spent part of March 31 in the company of the girl's mother and said he intended to marry her.

CONTINUES TODAY

Wright said he had known the woman for a little more than a month, Cpl. Meyer added. The case was adjourned until today.

Couldn't Swim —But Did

VANCOUVER (CP)—Frank Trammis, who says he is a non-swimmer, paddled his feet across Coal Harbor Tuesday after he was blown from his cabin cruiser by a gas explosion.

He was pulled from the water, apparently unharmed, by a marine gas station attendant. The boat burned to the waterline.

Tanker, Barge Collision Under Inquiry

A court of inquiry opened here Wednesday into a tanker-barge collision near Brockton Island earlier this year in which one man died.

The collision occurred in Queen's Sound just before midnight Feb. 25 between the 103-ton oil tanker Tyee Shell of Vancouver and the 280-ton barge Island Express of Victoria, which was being pushed as a tow by the tug Island Commander.

COOK DIED

Both vessels remained afloat after the collision, but the cook aboard the Tyee Shell died as a result of it.

Judge Montague Tyrrell-Drake is presiding over the inquiry. Other members of the three-man board are Capt. Ernest Caldwell of Victoria and Capt. Robert Dransy of New Westminster.

A preliminary inquiry was conducted in Vancouver in March.

REGULATIONS

Canada Shell Ltd. owns the Tyee Shell, and Island Tug and Barge Ltd. of Victoria owns the Island Express and Island Commander.

During Wednesday's proceedings lawyer R. R. MacGillivray, representing the federal department of transport, said one of the questions the court will be asked to consider is the suitability of the present regulations for preventing collisions at sea.

SEEN ON RADAR

A crew member of the tug testified the tanker was visible on the tug's radar screen shortly before the collision. Two bow lights from the tanker were also visible in the distance, he said.

The inquiry, which is expected to last several days, continues this morning.

High-Rise Delay Ended

The belated high-rise is rising again.

After a two-month delay, work has resumed on the $3,000,000 apartment project at Esquimalt Road and Maitland.

A spokesman for the owners, West Bay Investments Ltd., said Tuesday a disagreement between company directors has been settled.

BACK ON JOB

Workers are back on the job. Settlement resulted in West Bay Investments Ltd. acquiring all contracts from Siegg Bros. Investments, the spokesman said.

In addition, E. R. Siegg's shares in West Bay were bought out by the remaining directors, Victor W. Williams and Ernst A. Lindberg.

CONCRETE SMELL

Burns and Dutton Construction (1962) Ltd. is building the concrete shell of the 15-story apartment.

Crews were working on the building's sixth floor at the time of the stoppage and officials now are aiming for completion by year's end.

Competition or Not?

Defence Dilemma Hangs Over Ships

OTTAWA (CP)—The cabinet is facing another dilemma over a defence program.

Question this time is whether there should be national competition among shipyards for four new destroyer contracts, worth some $12,000,000 altogether.

The dilemma arises from the fact that East Coast and St. Lawrence River yards can build more cheaply than West Coast plants because of higher wage costs in the West.

Informed sources said Wednesday Defence Production Minister Drury has recommended a national competition, which could mean contracts for all four destroyers would go to East Coast or St. Lawrence yards.

B.C. NOT PLEASED

British Columbia cabinet ministers and M.P.s aren't pleased at such a prospect, especially when the government's 35-per-cent subsidy on commercial shipbuilding, fishing trawlers excepted, has been under suspension since February.

Informants indicated there may be a compromise: Competitive bids among Eastern yards for two or three destroyers and among British Columbia yards for one or two.

The last major cabinet dispute over a defence program occurred late last year. The government had to decide whether to order an expensive fighter-bomber for the RCAF, to the greater benefit of the aviation industry, or a cheaper plane to stay within the $1,500,000,000 ceiling on annual defence expenditures.

VICTORY

The cabinet decided on the cheaper plane, a victory for Defence Minister Hellyer.

The present problem is complicated by the fact the shipyards have never bid competitively on "destroyer" contracts. Work was allocated to the yards, first on a cost-plus basis, then on a target - incentive basis.

The first type means the government pays the straight cost of the warship, plus five-per-cent profit to the yard. The second type provides for sharing by government and industry of any savings achieved through faster and more economic work.

Officials said the move from allocation of contracts to competitive bidding is a giant step for the shipyards and there is some understandable apprehension among shipbuilders.

Still Alive

Pet Dog Shot At Home

An SPCA worker's two-year-old dalmatian dog was shot Tuesday night as it lay in its owner's driveway.

Owner of the dog, Mrs. Carolyn McCallum, was standing on her front lawn next door to the SPCA building on Napier Lane when the shot was fired. She thought it was a car backfiring until the dog yelped and ran behind its kennel, she said.

Her husband rushed the wounded dog to a veterinarian.

PROBABLY RIFLE

Police believe the weapon used was a .22 rifle.

The bullet passed right through the dog's back. It was not immediately known whether the dog would survive the wound.

The SPCA has already lodged several complaints with police about rocks being thrown at the establishment doing damage.

Police were unable to say Tuesday night whether these events and the shooting are connected.

At Becher Bay

Fireman

Whale

City fireman Dave Mackereth hooked a killer whale off Becher Bay Tuesday morning and played it for 20 minutes before he knew what he had.

"He came up just 20 feet from the boat and when I saw what it was I grabbed my pliers and cut the wire line," Mr. Mackereth said. He fishes in a small putter boat.

ON THE LINE

"He was on the line, all right. I didn't know what the heck I had. I think he was snagged," he said. "It sure scared me."

A fisherman fishing alongside Mr. Mackereth said he saw his rod bend right down. "The big cow raised its four-foot dorsal fin beside the boat," he said. "It just stayed on the surface behind the boat."

"As soon as he cut the wire he revved up his motor and got out of there fast. He was so scared he was shaking, and so was I."

Eagle Cancer Fight 'Magnificent Effort'

The B.C. chapter of the Eagles has given $9,700 to the B.C. Cancer Society, through a cheque presented at a banquet in Club Sirocco concluding a recent two-day conference.

"This is a magnificent effort," said Dugald Gillespie, chairman of the Victoria Cancer Campaign.

For Victoria Groups

Gift of $2,900 Buys Culture

Grants totalling $2,900 given to four Victoria cultural groups will be spent on an actors' school, an art show, a publication and a library.

The grants were given by the Leon and Thelma Kerner Foundation to the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria, $400; the Bastion Theatre, $1,000; the Community Arts Council, $500, and the Victoria School of Music, $1,000.

The art gallery gift will be used to "help fill in the gaps of the permanent collection in medieval and Indian art," said gallery director Colin Graham.

This will permit an exhibition on The Art of Mankind, using works from the permanent collection, said Mr. Graham.

ALL CULTURES

"It will be a display of art from all periods and all cultures from the pre-dynastic Egyptian period up until now and will include examples of European, African, Central American, Asian, Middle Eastern and North American cultures."

The Bastion Theatre will use its grant to support the theatre school, said manager Stewart Paul.

"We are expecting an enrollment of 150 in the fall," he said. The school runs from Oct. 1 to mid-May and offers one two-hour session a week.

MORE ATTRACTIVE

Funds allotted to the Community Arts Council will be used to enlarge their current Calendar of Events and make it "more attractive."

Victoria School of Music, awarded $1,000 to assist with its library, has not yet decided whether to improve the premises or to purchase books.

Jobs Boom In Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — Unemployment in Canada dropped to 265,000 at mid-May from 371,000 in mid-April as the seasonal job boom took hold.

It dropped the national unemployment rate to 3.7 per cent of the labor force, lowest mid-May figure since 1937. Other figures were 5.3 per cent in April and 4.2 per cent in May of last year.

A report by the labor department and the bureau of statistics showed the labor force at 7,123,000, a gain of 155,000 in the month.

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union is jumping into the market research business and studying what the Russian customer wants to buy, a trade official said Wednesday.

In a major change, a new institute had been set up to study consumer demand. Computers would process figures on family budgets, spending habits, incomes and sales patterns.

New Warning

Cold War Thaw Ending?

By UPI, AP

MOSCOW—The Soviet government warned the United States Wednesday night that American acts in Viet Nam may end the thaw in Soviet-American relations.

It was not the first such warning issued here. But its prominence Wednesday, in a front-page editorial in the government newspaper Izvestia, lent it new weight.

Western observers said the Soviet press appeared to be preparing the public for a worsening in Moscow-Washington relations.

LONDON — Prime Minister Holycroft of New Zealand said Wednesday he will ask the United States to again halt bombing of North Viet Nam temporarily when he goes to Washington after the Commonwealth prime ministers conference.

Holycroft said he also was sure that the U.S. would not reject the idea of having representatives of the Viet Cong participate in diplomatic negotiations.

WELLINGTON — The New Zealand battery to serve in South Viet Nam will fly to Viet Nam next month, the chief of general staff, Maj.-Gen. W. S. McKinnon, has announced.

CAIRO — A Viet Cong leader claims the United States is suffering a staggering defeat in Viet Nam because the balance of power has changed in favor of his rebel movement.

He disputed reports that difficulties encountered by U.S.-backed government troops in Viet Nam were caused by bad weather conditions, saying "There was no rain in the province of Quang Ngai where there was a big battle and yet we had the upper hand."

'Equality Nonsense Killing UN'

The assumption of the UN Charter that its organization is based on the sovereign equality of all its members is current nonsense, Professor C. S. Burchill told members of the Air Officers' Association Wednesday night.

"Sovereignty means a nation is subject to no law except its own self-interest, and free to use any method, particularly war—the traditional tool of sovereigns—to further that interest."

U.S. APPROVAL

Professor Burchill said with the exception of Cuba, "the 22 sovereign nations in the Western Hemisphere" cannot use their weapons "except with the permission of the U.S. and for purposes approved by the U.S."

"Similarly, Poland and Czechoslovakia, East Germany and Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria, all have substantial military forces and cannot use them except with the permission of Russia."

ORDERED OUT

Even France and Britain were not sovereign today. "They were ordered out of the Suez by Russia and the United States acting in concert."

"To pretend that the 115 members of the UN organization are sovereign states is simply laughable. To add to this the assertion that they are equal is ludicrous."

"Any organization predicated on these two assertions is not only dying—it cannot possibly exist on this basis."

Hornet's Nest Over Quebec

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal cabinet landed in the middle of a political hornet's nest Wednesday by announcing it will advise the Queen to agree to the Quebec cabinet's request to limit the powers of the province's legislative council.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker and New Democratic Leader Douglas came out swinging hard at Acting Prime Minister Martin's announcement. Social Credit Leader Thompson attacked the government for not letting Parliament rule on the cabinet's decision first.

Creditist spokesman Gilles Giguere advised Mr. Martin to "take this whole bunch of papers and send it right back to Quebec immediately. . . . Let them solve it."

POSSIBLE TROUBLE

The issue spelled possible trouble for the minority Liberal administration next Monday when one of the regular supply debates was scheduled by Mr. Martin to give the Commons a chance to debate it.

These debates afford the chance for the Opposition to move non-confidence motions.

THOMPSON AGREES

However, Mr. Thompson whose nine-member group has come to the government's rescue on crucial votes in the past agreed with one aspect of the government's decision—that the elected representatives of Quebec should decide the powers of their provincial legislative chambers.

The legislative council which opposes the Quebec Liberal government's plan to curb its powers in an appointed body dominated by the Union Nationale party.

NO RIGHT

Liberal applause at Mr. Thompson's stand was somewhat dampened when he added he doesn't believe Quebec has a constitutional right to appeal directly to the Crown and such an appeal should first pass through Parliament.

Mr. Martin, acting for Prime Minister Pearson who is in London at a Commonwealth prime ministers' conference, said the federal cabinet has "come to the conclusion the government should advise the Queen to act in this matter in accordance with the

Police Radio Found, Too

VANCOUVER (CP)—A stolen two-way police radio was recovered last weekend with the bulk of the lost from the $1,250,000 mutilated money holdup, police disclosed Wednesday.

A spokesman said the $1,000 radio was found with the money in a rented garage in Victoria at 1941 Fairfield.

The radio was taken from a Vancouver police sub-station Nov. 25. There was no sign of forced entry.

"The finding of the radio seems to support the opinion of the chief (Ralph Booth) that whoever was responsible for the CPR warehouse robbery and the bank holdup was knowledgeable of police procedure," the spokesman said.

He said the radio was used by the four bandits in the Feb. 11 robbery of the mutilated currency.

All but $14,385 of the money—punched with three holes prior to its planned destruction by the Bank of Canada—has been recovered.

Danube Swamps Four Countries

VIENNA (AP)—The Danube, flooding after weeks of heavy rains, swirled over dikes, crashed homes and spilled over fertile farmlands in Austria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Yugoslavia Wednesday.

Tens of thousands were left homeless. Four persons are missing in Yugoslavia and believed drowned.

From UPI, AP

SANTO DOMINGO — Heavy explosions and occasional gunfire reverberated here Wednesday as United Nations mediators sought to firm up the cease-fire which ended Tuesday's vicious fight between Dominican rebels and troops of the Inter-American peacekeeping force.

Canadians Staying On Cyprus

OTTAWA (UPI) — Acting prime minister Martin said Wednesday Canada has agreed to continue serving in the United Nations peace-keeping force on Cyprus for a "further six months."

Martin told the Commons Canada received a "formal request" for the continuation from the UN Security Council and "the government has decided to accept."

Martin is acting prime minister while Prime Minister Pearson is in London attending the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference.

Canada's 1,100-man contingent on the island will be "rotated" this fall when the 2nd Battalion, Canadian Guards, at Camp Petawawa, Ont., will replace the 1st Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Victoria.

One U.S. paratrooper was shot dead Wednesday, two other U.S. soldiers died of wounds suffered in Tuesday's battle between the inter-American peace force and the rebels.

Rebel leader Col. Francisco Casasuso Duro said 67 persons were killed and 285 wounded in the rebel sector in Tuesday's fighting.

'GENOCIDE'

He accused U.S. troops of "an act of genocide unprecedented in our country."

For more than three hours Wednesday, there was heavy firing along the northern corridor of the international security zone. Most of the shooting was centered a few blocks from the Ocaña River.

SHIFTERS

U.S. paratroopers blasted at buildings in the crowded urban area where snipers were believed to be hiding.

Her Bomb No Dud

OTTAWA (CP)—Ever since Col. Saure decided last year she could easily bomb a multi-million dollar underground NORAD communications centre near her home at North Bay, Ont., things have been quietly hopping.

Mrs. Saure, in an article that was never printed, said after a tour of the base that its security was loose, civil defence in North Bay was a joke, and manned bomber detection was obsolete in a missile age.

She observed most North Bay residents didn't even hear the sirens during one civil defence drill.

NO CHECK

Mrs. Saure tried fruitlessly to check out her article with Air Vice-Marshal James Harvey, NORAD northern region commander.

Both Maclean's magazine and the Toronto Globe and Mail turned the article down.

RCMP AT DOOR

Last April 15, four months after the rejections, RCMP visited her home, questioned her about the article, then walked away with a file of what she had done.

Mrs. Saure said in an interview with Maclean's, who published details in their June 5 issue, she was scared stiff by a warning she had classified information and shouldn't publish the article.

Later, she recalled most of her fears had come from a standard press kit issued at the centre.

She also noted she called the North Bay civil defence number three times daily for three weeks before anyone answered the telephone.

Hardly any of this was mentioned in a terse justice department reply Wednesday in the Commons to eight questions by David Orlow (NDP—Winnipeg North).

The written reply said a Staff Sgt. Linden of the RCMP questioned her but didn't search her home, although he had a search warrant.

NOT INFORMED

Denied was her contention more than one Mountie was there, and that she was warned against publishing the article.

She turned over "her complete file and manuscript" voluntarily, it said.

Mrs. Saure hadn't been informed of her rights, it said. The correspondence Sgt. Linden had taken has been returned, it added.

Nothing was said about NORAD the communications centre, nor the reason for the RCMP visit.

It was the 14th weapons-related experiment the AEC has announced this year.

Pearson Plea:

Attack First Talk Later

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson said he hopes the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference opening today will concentrate on future solutions and not on past wrongs in its debate on the Viet Nam fighting.

The Canadian prime minister's plea came Wednesday night when he was joined in a BBC television appearance by Britain's Prime Minister Wilson, Malaysia's Tunja Abdul Rahman, Nigeria's Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa and Uganda's Milton Obote. (See also Page 5, 48.)

Asked by interviewer Robin Day what the 21-country conference might "say or do" about the bitter war involving the United States in Southeast Asia, Pearson replied:

PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT

"I hope it will avoid doing one thing, and that is to wrangle over who is primarily responsible for what has happened in Viet Nam, and that it will concentrate on what can be done to bring about a peaceful and negotiated settlement."

Pearson said the conference should look to the future rather than the past, and "I think there is a likelihood of something like that happening and of good results coming from it."

LITTLE CONFERENCE

The Canadian prime minister's carefully chosen words were typical of the TV discussion which, with its participants from around the world, was billed as a "little prime ministers' conference."

But there were matches of sharp exchanges as well. Obote accused Wilson of soft handling of white-supremacist Rhodesia, formerly Southern Rhodesia.

Twenty-one prime ministers, residents and deputies, representing some 750,000,000 people, are scheduled to gather round a 48-foot oval table in Marlborough.

U.S. Commits 20,000 More

Six Battalions On Their Way

From UPI, AP

WASHINGTON — U.S. Defence Secretary McNamara announced Wednesday that 20,000 more U.S. military personnel "are now moving" towards Viet Nam and that a revolutionary air assault division is being formed at Fort Benning, Ga.

In Viet Nam Wednesday, the Viet Cong scored another ground victory by ambushing a convoy and shooting down a helicopter sent to relieve the convoy, while U.S. warplanes shot 170 bombing sorties against Communist positions in both North and South Viet Nam.

Mr. McNamara said the air assault division—first new type of division created since the Second World War when armored and airborne divisions came into being—will be organized "and made combat ready as expeditiously as possible."

He also announced that six additional U.S. battalions and supporting troops are on their way to South Viet Nam.

Mr. McNamara said the additional U.S. strength had been requested by the South Viet Nam government and that the units "will be in place in a few weeks."

He said these reinforcements will bring the total U.S. military strength in Viet Nam to between 70,000 and 75,000 men, of which about 21,000 will be ground combat personnel.

54,000 THERE NOW

Mr. McNamara said nine U.S. battalions are already deployed in Viet Nam and that their 13,000 ground combat men are part of the 54,000 U.S. military personnel now in that country.

The Viet Cong hit a South Vietnamese government convoy 15 miles southwest of Saigon Wednesday while official attention centred on a terrorist bombing that injured 34 United States servicemen and at least 12 other persons at Saigon Airport.

AMBUSHED

A U.S. spokesman announced a large guerrilla force ambushed the convoy of about 40 militiamen and apparently captured a U.S. Army adviser marching with them, then shot down the U.S. helicopter sent to relieve the convoy.

With Abortions, Contraceptives

By Ian Street

The population explosion has been reduced to manageable proportions in Japan.

It's the only Asian country and probably the only country in the world that can make this claim.

In Few Years

It's possible as a result that in the next few years the national family planning policy may have to be revised.

Dr. Tachi doesn't fit the stereotype of a world-renowned economist. His dark eyes snap with humor; he's articulate and voluble with an excellent command of English. Visitors to his rather drab fifth-floor government office often find him, as I did, con-less and wearing suspenders. Yes, he admits, Japan is trying to discourage "a few greedy" gynaecologists who continue to counsel their patients to undergo induced abortions without proper cause.

Abortionists

The International Planned Parenthood Federation estimated there are some 11,000 registered abortionists in Japan. And despite the government's attempts to promote contraception as the more desirable method of family planning these doctors have a vested interest in keeping the status quo.

Dr. Tachi points out that induced abortions in Japan, which reached a peak in 1955 with 1,170,000 performed, have since dropped steadily each year to the 1964 figure of 830,000.

But the government would like to see this figure further reduced. A vigorous program of education in methods of contraception is getting startling results. A survey taken last May showed 52 per cent of eligible couples (where the wife is under 50) practice some form of birth control.

NO CHECK

Mrs. Saure tried fruitlessly to check out her article with Air Vice-Marshal James Harvey, NORAD northern region commander.

Both Maclean's magazine and the Toronto Globe and Mail turned the article down.

Forecast: Cold, Baby Boy

By GEOFFREY ATKINS

GENEVA (AP) — Take it from the meteorologists, if you have an accident on the road or on the job you can probably blame it on a change in the weather.

Eighteen experts from 10 nations in a report to the World Meteorological Organization Wednesday said figures based on 1,000,000 individual statistics indicate that during periods of increased atmospheric pressure — a thunderstorm for example —

Traffic accidents rise by 70 per cent, births by 11 per cent, deaths by 30 per cent, pains in chronic patients by 100 per cent, work accidents by 20 per cent, police admissions by six per cent and mining accidents by 12 per cent. At the same time human reactions are six per cent slower.

Statistics also indicate a baby conceived in cold

When Sonny Liston fell down in Lewiston, Maine, the punch that cued his pratfall didn't look like much from the ring-side. It looked no better the next day on the television kinescope, except to Cassius Clay and his clique who watched with the press, cooing and chortling with delighted admiration. Neither at normal speed nor in slow motion did Clay's short right suggest a thunderbolt.

Recently the punch was viewed again from the perspective of a fortnight's meditation and prayer. The movie produced by Manny Spiro for distribution to theatres—but never sold because of the bout's brevity—catches details that escaped the eyewitness, the TV camera, and the still photographers.

Manny's slow-motion camera, in particular, was admirably placed. As a vivid record of what happened May 25th in that high school hockey rink, the pictures are superb.

And on film it is still a phantom punch. It is still the Shot Smelled Round the World.

The post-bout spate of argument, boiling like a river in flood, included some fascinating observations. One reader kept telephoning this office to report that he had read Clay's lips on closed-circuit. As Jersey Joe Walcott stepped the match, this witness testified, Cassius took somebody from his corner. "I don't know, I didn't hit him."

Incredibly, Clay's lips don't move at all from the moment Angele Dundee and Drew Brown rush out of his corner until, a considerable time later, he lays a glove on Liston's shoulder and says better luck next time, or something. He just looks dazed while his handlers are embracing him.

Some Fancy Footwork

One impressive piece of published expertise gave the impression it was based on a study of still pictures. Describing the punch as a perfectly timed knockout blow, it said Cassius planted his left foot solidly and pivoted to get his whole weight into the blow. It said the force of the smash, catching Liston coming in, lifted Sonny's left foot off the floor.

Not the way Manny Spiro's camera saw it, and Manny ran the slow-motion again and again the other day so every detail could be studied.

Down On All Fours

"He broke his fall with his hands," somebody said at ringside after Liston went down. True, but a man stunned by a blow could go down the same way. Twisting to his right, Sonny falls with both arms extended so the gloves touch the floor first. He continues forward and down, taking a step and a half on all fours—glances and feet, not knees. Then the complete fall, the roll, the rise to one knee, the second fall, and so on, with the camera watching as the eye cannot.

Now comes a suggestion that Liston was aware before the referee was that he had been down more than 10 seconds. Getting up, he looks at Clay, but as Walcott steps between them to dust gloves, Sonny turns and stared fixedly across the ring in the knockdown timekeeper's direction.

Walcott turns to follow Liston's gaze, and at length Clay glances over that way, too. Only when Jersey Joe leaves the fighters to consult the timekeeper does Sonny turn back to face Clay and lift his gloves.

When Liston fell, Clay followed the right counter with a tardy left hook that missed by at least six inches. Now, in the wild flurry during Walcott's brief absence, Cassius lands only one punch, a light hook to the face.

Answer Without Question

When every detail had been studied, Spiro broke out a documentary he made of the first Liston-Clay meeting in Miami Beach. He never sold this, either. It begins with the mob scene in the ring just after Liston's surrender. Clay is screaming. "I'm the king! I'm king of the world!"

Then, loud and clear on the soundtrack, come words which did not get through to the working press rows in the tumult of the moment.

"It wasn't a fix," Clay yells. "You can't call it a fix because I didn't stop it, the doctor did." It was an answer without a question.

Is the heavyweight champion of the world a great fighter? He says so, but his two meetings with Liston—his only bouts on the championship level—are all the evidence we have.

25 Strikeouts For Hemming

ers' edge to one and a half games over second-place Transports.

Movers' runs came mainly in the third inning. Jerry Cochet's three-run triple in the top of the ninth sparked a five-run burst which saw two more runs scored on singles by Les Brice and Hemming. Dave Rivers, Bob Lumley and Bob Moysey drove in one run apiece in the seventh to account for Greaves' other run-filled frame.

Last night the talented left-hander struck out 25 men, two away from a perfect 27 and five more than his old record of 22 set before he left to spark Greaves Moving and Storage to a 10-2 victory over Transports and keep the lead in the Senior Amateur Baseball League at Royal Athletic Park.

The win, Hemming's second in two starts, and the eighth for Greaves, boosts the league-leaders' edge to one and a half games over second-place Transports.

Sox Defeat Minnesota Tiant One-Hits Athletics

By the Canadian Press

Chicago White Sox handed Minnesota's Camilo Pascual his first loss after eight victories, 3-1, and moved to within one-half game of the American League leading Twins Wednesday.

Luis Tiant pitched a one-hitter in Cleveland, allowing only a seventh-inning single by

Dodgers' Maury Wills scored twice after stealing his 40th and 41st bases of the year.

Koussax, 19-3, lost a shutout in the seventh inning when Willie Mays tripped and scored on Jim Hart's single. However, Koussax struck out eight en route to his fourth straight victory and his first over the Giants since 1963.

Willie Stargell's 14th homer, a three-run shot in the ninth inning following a dropped third strike and an error, carried Pittsburgh Pirates to a 10-9 victory over the Cardinals at St. Louis.

Trailing 9-7, the Pirates got started when catcher Tim McCarver dropped a third strike by Barney Schultz that enabled Bill Virdon to reach base.

Maury Wills' grounder then went through Jerry Bushiek's legs and Stargell's homer went over the right field roof.

Leo Cardenas' two home runs paced the hometown Cincinnati Reds to an 8-4 decision over New York Mets as lefthander Jim O'Toole obtained his first victory of the season.

Hot - hitting Willie Horton batted across five more runs as Detroit Tigers scored their fourth straight victory, 9-4 over the visiting Boston Red Sox.

Horton scored his 15th homer with one on in the eighth after knocking in earlier runs with a single in the first and a double in the Tigers' decisive five-run seventh.

The slugging outfielder has 14 RBIs in his last four games.

Tiant brought his record to 6-3 while striking out seven and walking three.

Washington loaded the bases in the second on a hit batsman, an error by second baseman Pedro Gonzalez and an intentional walk, but Tiant struck out pitcher Phil Ortega to end the threat.

YANKEES LOSE

Backed by three early home runs in New York, Dave McNally pitched Baltimore Orioles to their sixth straight victory, trimming the Yankees 5-1.

Jerry Adair tagged loser Al Downing's second pitch of the game for a homer in the first inning. Sam Bowens led off the second with a homer and Jackie Brandt homered off Downing with two out in the third. Adair capped the Oriole attack with a two-run double in the ninth, his third hit.

McNally, 22, a southpaw, allowed six hits, including Cleo Boyer's homer in the fifth, before being lifted for a pinch hitter in the ninth. Dick Hall finished up.

Mickey Mantle got a single for the Yanks, his first hit in 17 at bats.

Snipped, Scythed, Swept, Scrubbed

Story and Pictures
By BEA HAMILTON

FULFORD — Residents can boast this is the cleanest village on Salt Spring Island—the whole place has been snipped, scythed, swept, raked and scrubbed.

It should be clean and tidy because people armed with garden tools came from all around the docks and from up the valley. Weeds flew in all directions and so did water when firemen Bob Patterson and Fred Hollings broke out the firehoses for the final scrub-down.

From the top of the hill to the docks, the powerful water jets sent all the past months' dust and dirt flying, to the amusement of the small children helping out.

Bigger boys carted rubbish away in a wheelbarrow, with the assistance of the smaller children. They dodged water, jumped over water and sloshed in it.

When one mother protested about her son's wet feet, his answer was: "But, Mom, it's making my feet clean!" It sounded reasonable, especially since it was Saturday night. So he raced back into the excitement, wet and happy; not exactly with Mom's approval but she didn't say so.

Some startled strangers came off their cruiser for an evening stroll with their children and dog. They couldn't find a dry walk anywhere and were uncertain how to take the unusually wet reception. Fulford had never looked so unruly.

The strange thing was that the residents were all working hard but seemed to enjoy it. It didn't make sense and the visitors beat a retreat to their boat where things were sane and quiet.

This was the 12th anniversary of Fulford's Clean-Up Night and the introduction of flower boxes on the docks.

Saturday night's outing had a happy ending too. All the workers were invited to Nan's Coffee Bar for coffee and doughnuts or soft drinks, courtesy of Mrs. Nancy Patterson.

Mrs. G. Maude, who has been away on a trip to England, usually takes the lead in this big night at Fulford. She returns here Tuesday and will find the job well done, thanks to the rest of the people.

Cumberland

Tourist Bureau—Then Museum

CUMBERLAND — The Chamber of Commerce will go ahead with the establishment of a tourist bureau and eventually a museum, it was decided at the group's last meeting of the spring Tuesday.

Negotiations for a site are proceeding and it is expected an announcement will be made within a week after which work parties will be called in order to have the bureau open for business in July and August.

FIRST BROCHURE

The meeting was told that the Cumberland Chamber's first tourist brochure, in two colors and containing a history of the area and pictures of Comox Lake, is in the hands of the printers. When ready it will be forwarded to the B.C. Ferry Authority and various tourist bureaus for distribution.

The bureau will not only help the tourist but will benefit the merchants, the meeting was told. A great deal of help will be required and the president will get in touch with members next week.

A Chamber member will attend a meeting in the Recreation Institute Friday to hear plans for Cumberland Day at Comox Lake in August. The Chamber has endorsed the idea which is a revival of a similar day held annually many years ago.

ANTI-NOISE

The Chamber float which took part in the May 24 parade will be entered in the July 1 parade in Courtenay.

A letter has been sent the village council asking for an anti-noise bylaw to control the increasing incidence of fire-squalling, horn-sounding and other objectionable noises late at night, particularly near the hospital. The RCMP is in favor of the move and a copy of the letter was sent the police.

Four Teachers Given Tribute

LAKE COWICHAN — Four teachers at the Stanley Gordon Elementary School were honored at this week's meeting of the Lake Cowichan Parent-Teacher Association.

Mrs. J. S. T. Saywell, who taught kindergarten at the Gladys Lomas annex for 15 years, was presented with a plaque made by secondary school industrial arts instructor Ernie Clode. She was also given a pin of the PTA of which she has been a member for the past 27 years. Mrs. Saywell is leaving to teach at Parksville next year.

Also given gifts were Mrs. Gail Smith and Mrs. J. R. Ramm, who are leaving the district, and Eric Lundberg, who

Composite Bylaws Win Chamber Stamp

PORT ALBERNI — A motion to support the composite bylaws being sponsored by the Twin Cities' Councils was given approval by the majority of 16 members at an Alberni Valley Chamber of Commerce meeting Wednesday.

But Ald. Jack Perry, who had opposed the bylaw in council, asked to have his vote recorded against the Chamber action.

Ambulance Drive Supported

CHEMAMUS — Chemamus Crofton and District Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night gave its support to the Chemamus Ambulance Society in its drive for a new ambulance.

At the invitation of the ambulance society a meeting will be held June 23 to drum up support for a new vehicle and a Chamber delegate will attend the meeting.

Members were told the 11-year-old ambulance currently in use has outlived its usefulness. The Chamber was told North Cowichan council had approved a $100 grant toward the July 1 celebrations.

Plans for the nine projects were outlined by Mayor Les Hammer of Port Alberni, who urged the Chamber to take a stand as it had in support of the amalgamation issue last year.

PIONEER

"We pioneered amalgamation for the whole of Canada and now we are proposing to be the first to take advantage of the new provincial legislation which makes it possible to group proposed projects," Mayor Hammer said.

Ald. Perry, speaking against the motion proposed by Bud Berner, said if the motion passed he would assume the chamber, as he had city council, of being in too much of a rush.

He claimed the estimate on the work of building the road connection between the cities at Rogers Creek was too low and that the engineers' figure on the sewerage treatment plant was admittedly an "estimated guess."

He suggested that these two projects could be left half finished because of lack of funds.

ANSWERED

His contention that 16 out of 126 members should not make a decision involving the chamber was answered by Mr. Berner who declared that it was not much different from the proportion of voters who decided some municipal issues at the polls.

Parks and recreation director Duncan Russell claimed Ald. Perry had drawn from a hat the figure of $50,000 as an estimate of annual deficit in operation of the proposed indoor swimming pool.

Ald. Perry said he believed "we are spending too much on recreation" while other improvements are being neglected.

Mayor Hammer told the chamber that there was no intention of overlooking projects long overdue and not covered in the bylaw. He said council has plans for downtown redevelopment, for an industrial road on

Duncan-Cowichan

Chamber's Deficit Nearly Wiped Out

DUNCAN — The Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce is within $400 of wiping out the substantial deficit it had built up over the past few years, chamber directors were told Wednesday by secretary Art Stevenson.

Mr. Stevenson said that with 35 new members whose fees total $400, the city of Duncan's sharing proposal had been surpassed by $100.

Earlier the city had informed the chamber it would match up to $500 whatever the chamber could round up in new memberships. The city will be approached soon to fulfill its promise.

GOOD RESPONSE

Director Dick Benzie said the response to a call for volunteers to serve on a proposed Duncan recreation commission had been "astounding." So far, he said, four definite names for the commission and two prospects had been obtained.

Some time ago the Duncan city council told the Chamber if it fund drive,

Shades of Brother Twelve

Gulf 'Treasure Isle' Developed as Resort

NANAIMO — Half of a mysterious paradise island in the Gulf Islands is being developed as a summer resort.

Harry Donald of Nanaimo Realty purchased Ruxton Island on behalf of a group of investors last summer.

The 236-acre island was once one of a group of islands inhabited by the cult of Brother Twelve, a self-made mystic who bilked rich believers out of at least $500,000 during the late 1920s and early '30s.

colonists complained to police and asked for their money back.

His fate is still unknown. It is believed he buried part of his treasure on Ruxton Island, though none has been found to date.

Since last August, three miles of road have been completed on half of the island. A boat ramp is going in at Tillicum Cottages in Cedar and boats will be available for the transportation of boatless Ruxton inhabitants.

A herd of sheep is keeping down grass and undergrowth.

Mr. Donald said 84 lots are being developed. They are not yet ready for sale though some have been reserved.

'School Staff Morale Low'

Blast at Board Rocks Rotarians

By DON HUNTLEY

CAMPBELL RIVER — Rotarians were rocked back in their seats at their weekly luncheon meeting Wednesday when a resigning secondary school principal charged District 72 school board with incompetence.

James Smith, principal of Campbell River Junior-Senior Secondary School for the past seven years and a member of the Rotary Club, claimed in an unexpected, emotional speech "there is a crisis in secondary education in Campbell River."

Mr. Smith has resigned to accept a post as principal of Kitimat Junior-Senior Secondary School.

MORALE LOW

"Staff morale is at its lowest ebb in the seven years I have been here," he told the service club.

He said teachers are leaving the school or "attempting to leave because they have lost faith in the ability of the school trustees to make decisions based on informed educational thinking."

Mr. Smith said he deplored the fact that although the board knows professional educational advice is available and facilities exist for a survey of educational needs, the trustees have not sought "such professional advice."

IGNORED ADVICE

"What is worse," he said, "the board has ignored the advice of those professional persons who are involved directly in local education."

Mr. Smith told Rotarians there appears to be a sharp division of opinion among school trustees and "if it continues, it will result in inferior education in this area."

Mrs. H. S. Bootle, chairman of the Campbell River district school board, said she "regrets very much that Mr. Smith felt he had to air his feelings at a service club meeting."

ALWAYS WELCOME

She thought it could be damaging to the school referendum which is due to go before voters shortly.

In answer to Mr. Smith's charges that teachers are dissatisfied, Mrs. Bootle said the board would welcome at any time a delegation from the teachers if they were not happy with board policy.

She said that the board had never received any major complaints from the teachers nor had they asked the board to receive a delegation.

She pointed out that at the last round of wage negotiations with the teachers throughout the province, the wage contract between teachers and District 72 was settled amicably and was one of the first to be signed in the province.

She said the turnover of teachers in the Campbell River school district was between 25 and 30 per cent, normal for most school districts.

Asked later why he chose the Rotary club meeting for his outburst, Mr. Smith said, "I belong to Rotary, have worked with this group and felt it was representative of the community. It has always been interested in educational matters."

He said the appointment of a double administration by the board would not give "continuity between the junior and senior secondary schools."

The new senior secondary school is under construction in Campbell River and will be ready by September.

The board has appointed John Young, formerly principal at Keremeos, as principal of the new senior school. Mr. Smith was to remain as principal of what will become the junior secondary school.

SPLIT FACTOR

This split in administration is one of the factors in Mr. Smith's resignation.

Guest speaker at the Rotary meeting was Phil Sampson, secretary-treasurer of the Campbell River school board who later spoke on behalf of the forthcoming school referendum.

Also a guest was Jim Logie, superintendent of schools for the district.

Duncan to Mark Own Dominion Day

DUNCAN — Duncan residents shouldn't have to go to Chemamus to celebrate Dominion Day, city council was told this week.

Council has granted Teen Town a parade permit for July 1 and the teen-agers will be able to hold an open-air dance the same night on the city parking lot.

When Mayor Jack Dobson pointed out that Chemamus usually holds its celebration on July 1, Jim Quille, Teen Town adviser, said the teen-agers are trying to build up community spirit and bring it back to Duncan.

"Duncan people shouldn't have to go to Chemamus to celebrate Dominion Day," he said.

New Parking Space Open Next Month

NANAIMO — The $410,000 Gordon Street parking project will be officially opened July 17.

Members of Nanaimo Retailers Association were told at a closed meeting Tuesday night.

The development, which has been under construction for almost a year, will accommodate more than 230 cars.

Merchants who formed the association in February to protest city council's approval of an open shopping hours bylaw decided to take no stand on shopping hours for the summer.

Chairman Haig Burns said decision on shopping hours during peak tourist months of July and August will be left to individual merchants. Members of the association stick to Wednesday closing.

Hardware store owner Robert Nash replaces Dan Moorehouse as a director. Mr. Moorehouse, an Orestonia store manager, is being transferred out of town.

Mr. Nash also takes over as chairman of the promotions committee.

Merchants Enlightened

Shoplifting Major Item On Canada Crime Bill

NANAIMO — Shoplifting is becoming Canada's most expensive crime, Nanaimo merchants learned Tuesday.

Cpl. Stuart Langdon and Const. Robert Borham, plainclothes RCMP officers, told members of Nanaimo Retailers Association more money is lost in Canada each year through petty crimes of shoplifting, passing bad checks and gaining food or merchandise through false pretences than is lost through all the robberies with violence put together.

They said that the passing of phony cheques is on the increase, as is shoplifting, and that these crimes are being accomplished mainly by amateurs.

The association is conducting a program to acquaint staff with methods used by shoplifters, in an attempt to cut down on the incidence of the crime here.

20,000 Tested By TB Units

DUNCAN — More than 20,000 people at Duncan, Ladysmith, Chemainus, Lake Cowichan were skin-tested and X-rayed during the Operation Doves TB seal program which ended at Duncan last Saturday, a Duncan Kiwanis Club spokesman has reported.

NANAIMO — Five Wednesday morning caused extensive damage to the rear of Sam Lee's grocery store. Owners of the building, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Shaw, who live above the store, were not injured, but their apartment suffered smoke damage. Firemen said heaviest damage was to stock in the store.

LAKE COWICHAN — A substantial increase in membership was reported by Mrs. Len Flater at a recent meeting of the Lake Cowichan branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association. The meeting was also told a large quantity of used clothing had been sent to Riverview Hospital at Esquimalt.

COOMBS — The French Creek Parent-Teacher Association will hold a coffee party July 7 to replenish the Flora Reddybott Fund which gives a $50 prize each year for English. The fund is in memory of a teacher and founder of the French Creek P.T.A.

PARKSVILLE — Mr. and Mrs. A. Murray, of Aberdeen, Scotland, and Dr. and Mrs. David Greer, of Houston, Texas, were among the first to register at the tourist information bureau which has opened for the 1965 season. About 75 registrations were reported by the attendant, Mrs. A. W. Johnson, who will be assisted this year by Mrs. Spencer Donaldson of Coombs.

LAKE COWICHAN — The recent Grandparents' Tea, sponsored by the Old Age Pensioners' Organization realized $115. Mrs. J. D. Macdill told the group's regular meeting. The tea was held to raise funds to help the pensioners attend the annual OAPSO picnic at Parksville this summer.

PORT ALBERT — Alberni Valley tourist bureau was opened Tuesday under the direction of Chamber of Commerce secretary Mrs. V. H. Stevenson. Twenty-three out-of-town visitors sought information on the first day, one party from Florida making arrangements for a larger group to come later in the summer.

LAKE COWICHAN — Plans for the annual men's night to be staged by the Kinetics at Meacham Lake Saturday were completed at a meeting of the group in the IWA hall. A joint Kinmen-Kinette installation will be held in September.

COURTENAY — A fall fair, a playhouse, a members' golf and fishing party and a public fishing derby were among possible projects discussed by the Junior Chamber of Commerce at its last meeting of the spring season. Next meeting is in September.

CUMBERLAND — Gary Dane, 18, of Union Bay was found guilty by Magistrate John Ryland and fined $25 and lost his licence for 30 days on a charge of careless driving.

CUMBERLAND — Peter Harkins of Cumberland and a passenger escaped injury late Friday night when the car they were in skidded on the wet pavement, rolled over and landed on its top.

NANAIMO — Campbell River logger Frank Dorland was fined $140 after he was found guilty by Magistrate Eric Winch of impaired driving. His licence was suspended for three months.

COURTENAY — Homer Sinclair was fined $125 and lost his right to drive for three months after pleading guilty to impaired driving.

Health Centre Opened By Minister

COURTENAY — A gold and purple ribbon was cut by Health Minister Martin Tuesday as he declared open the new community health centre, the 78th such project in British Columbia. Mr. Martin said more than $5,000,000 had been spent on such community projects.

GROUPS PRAISED

He praised the community organizations who matched the civic contribution of $15,000 and through whose efforts the new health centre, adjacent to the Upper Island Health Unit, had become a reality.

Other speakers who addressed the group of civic and community leaders lauded former aldermen Harry Harris and Dr. Bruce Gordon, who helped spark the drive for the centre.

NOTABLE GUESTS

City Administrator William Moore introduced Mayor George Hobson, Dr. Gus Cunningham, of the Coast-Garibaldi health unit; Commissioners Ron Ellis, Comox, and William Henderson, Cumberland; architect J. James White, Nanaimo; R. W. Thompson of Georgian Bay Construction, the contractors; Bill Rasmussen, construction superintendent; Dr. Ken Benson, director of health services, Victoria; Dr. J. A. Taylor, deputy minister of health; Dr. S. Jensen, mental health director; Chief Andy Frank, Comox; Mr. Martin, Campbell River hospital board and K. Lightfoot, Campbell River hospital administrator.

Dr. G. A. Gibson, director of the health unit expressed his thanks for the support of the community.

Of the new health centre's cost the federal government provided $24,000; the B.C. government $24,000; the municipality $15,000 and volunteer agencies $14,000.

Duncan Boy Honored By Society

DUNCAN — The Royal Commonwealth Society of London, England, is honoring 12-year-old Lorne Brownsey, a Grade 7 student at Tansor Elementary School, for his essay on Shakespeare.

Lorne is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Brownsey of Somers Road, and his English teacher, Mrs. J. Roome, encouraged Lorne to enter the society's contest. His essay won the Class C division and he will receive a certificate from the society. Mrs. Roome said the contest is a challenge for children up to 14 years of age in all countries of the British Commonwealth.

MEAWNIGAN LAKE — Lack of membership has sparked the Mount and Valley Camera Club to plan a membership drive for a meeting in October. President Mrs. W. J. Cotford said the campaign will decide the fate of the club.

R. J. Horton Dies at 80

COBBLE HILL — Former cattle rancher and dairy farmer Reginald John Horton died at his home in Cobble Hill Tuesday. He was 80.

Born in Worcestershire, England, Mr. Horton came to Vancouver 30 years ago and later moved to Port Renfrew where he was a cattle rancher. He also lived in Saanich and in 1929 moved to Cobble Hill. He was an active member of St. John's Anglican Church and sang in the choir for the past 20 years. He was also an ardent gardener and fisherman.

Funeral services will be held from St. John's Church, Cobble Hill, at 2 p.m. today with Rev. P. G. Harris officiating. Burial will be in the churchyard cemetery.

Hornet's Nest Over Quebec

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal cabinet landed in the middle of a political hornet's nest Wednesday by announcing it will advise the Queen to agree to the Quebec cabinet's request to limit the powers of the province's legislative council.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker and New Democrat Leader Douglas came out swinging hard at acting prime minister Martin's announcement. Social Credit Leader Thompson attacked the government for not letting Parliament rule on the cabinet's decision first.

Creditable spokesman Gilles Giguere advised Mr. Martin to "take this whole bunch of papers and send it right back to Quebec immediately. . . . Let them solve it."

POSSIBLE TROUBLE

The issue spelled possible trouble for the minority Liberal administration next Monday when one of the regular supply debates was scheduled by Mr. Martin to give the Commons a chance to debate it.

These debates afford the chance for the Opposition to move non-confidence motions. THOMPSON AGREES

However, Mr. Thompson whose nine-member group has come to the government's rescue on crucial votes in the past agreed with one aspect of the government's decision—that the elected representatives of Quebec should decide the powers of their provincial legislative chambers.

The legislative council which opposes the Quebec Liberal government's plan to curb its powers is an appointed body dominated by the Union Nationale party. NO RIGHT

Liberal applause at Mr. Thompson's stand was somewhat dampened when he added he doesn't believe Quebec has a constitutional right to appeal directly to the Crown and such an appeal should first pass through Parliament.

Mr. Martin, acting Prime Minister Pearson who is in London at a Commonwealth prime ministers' conference, said the federal cabinet has "come to the conclusion the government should advise the governor-general and, through him, the Queen to act in this matter in accordance with the (Continued on Page 16)

In Cache with Mangled Money

Police Radio Found, Too

VANCOUVER (CP)—A stolen two-way police radio was recovered last weekend with the bulk of the loot from the $1,250,000 mutilated money holdup, police disclosed Wednesday.

A spokesman said the $1,000 radio was found with the money in a rented garage in Victoria at 1041 Fairfield.

The radio was taken from a Vancouver police sub-station Nov. 25. There was no sign of forced entry.

"The finding of the radio seems to support the opinion of the chief (Ralph Booth) that whoever was responsible for the CPR warehouse robbery and the bank holdup was knowledgeable of police procedure," the spokesman said.

He said the radio was used by the four bandits in the Feb. 11 robbery of the mutilated currency.

All but $14,386 of the money—punched with three holes prior to its planned destruction by the Bank of Canada—has been recovered.

Danube Swamps Four Countries

VIENNA (AP)—The Danube, flooding after weeks of heavy rains, swirled over dikes, crushed homes and spilled over fertile farmlands in Austria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Yugoslavia Wednesday.

Tens of thousands were left homeless. Four persons are missing in Yugoslavia and believed drowned.

Nearly 100,000 soldiers and civilian volunteers struggled to reinforce dams and salvage property.

In Santo Domingo

From UPI, AP

SANTO DOMINGO — Heavy explosions and occasional gunfire reverberated here Wednesday as United Nations mediators sought to firm up the cease-fire which ended Tuesday's vicious fight between Dominican rebels and troops of the Inter-American peacekeeping force.

Canadians Staying On Cyprus

OTTAWA (UPI) — Acting prime minister Martin said Wednesday Canada has agreed to continue serving in the United Nations peace-keeping force on Cyprus for a "further six months."

Martin told the Commons Canada received a "formal request" for the continuation from the UN Security Council and "the government has decided to accept."

Martin is acting prime minister while Prime Minister Pearson is in London attending the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference.

Canada's 1,100-man contingent on the island will be "rotated" this fall when the 2nd Battalion, Canadian Guards, at Camp Petawawa, Ont., will replace the 1st Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Victoria.

One U.S. paratrooper was shot dead Wednesday, two other U.S. soldiers died of wounds suffered in Tuesday's battle between the inter-American peace force and the rebels.

Rebel leader Col. Francisco Chamego Demo said 67 persons were killed and 265 wounded in the rebel sector in Tuesday's fighting.

He accused U.S. troops of "an act of genocide unprecedented in our country."

For more than three hours Wednesday, there was heavy firing along the northern corridor of the international security zone. Most of the shooting was centered a few blocks from the Oasma River.

SNIPERS

U.S. paratroopers blasted at buildings in the crowded slum area where snipers were believed to be hiding.

The United States accused the Communist-dominated 14th of June movement in the Dominican Republic of responsibility for renewed fighting in Santo Domingo in which 21 Dominicans were killed.

Defence Rap Brings Rap at Door

Her Bomb No Dud

OTTAWA (CP)—Ever since Ciel Sauve decided last year she could easily bomb a multi-million dollar underground NORAD communications centre near her home at North Bay, Ont., things have been quietly hopping.

Mrs. Sauve, in an article that was never printed, said after a tour of the base that its security was loose, civil defence in North Bay was a joke, and manned bomber detection was obsolete in a missile age.

She observed most North Bay residents didn't even hear the sirens during one civil defence drill.

NO CHECK

Mrs. Sauve tried fruitlessly to check out her article with Air Vice-Marshal James Harvey, NORAD northern region commander.

Both Maclean's magazine and the Toronto Globe and Mail turned the article down.

But word of its undiluted criticism evidently aroused official interest.

BOMB AT DOOR

Last April 15, four months after the rejections, RCMP visited her home, questioned her about the article, then walked away with a file of work she had done.

Mrs. Sauve said in an interview with Maclean's, who published details in their June 5 issue, she was scared stiff by a warning she had classified information and shouldn't publish the article.

Later, she recalled most of her facts had come from a standard press kit issued at the centre.

She also noted she called the North Bay civil defence number three times daily for three weeks before anyone answered the telephone.

Hardly any of this was mentioned in a terse justice department reply Wednesday in the Commons to eight questions by David Orlikow (NDP—Winnipeg North).

The written reply said a Staff Sgt. Linden of the RCMP questioned her but didn't search her home, although he had a search warrant.

NOT INFORMED

Denied was her contention more than one Mountie was there, and that she was warned against publishing the article.

She turned over "her complete file and manuscripts" voluntarily, it said.

Mrs. Sauve hadn't been informed of her rights, it said. The correspondence Sgt. Linden had taken had been returned, it added.

Nothing was said about NORAD, the communications centre or the reason for the RCMP visit.

It was the 14th weapons-related experiment the AEC has announced this year.

RED JETS DOWNED

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. Navy jet fighters shot down two Communist MIG fighters over North Viet Nam today, a U.S. military spokesman announced.

Two U.S. Navy Phantom jet fighters chased with the Communist jets while flying escort for other planes attacking targets in North Viet Nam, the spokesman said.

However, the spokesman said he did not know yet whether the dogfight occurred over North Viet Nam or off the coast over the South China Sea.

U.S. Commits 20,000 More

Six Battalions On Their Way

From UPI, AP

WASHINGTON — U.S. Defence Secretary McNamara announced Wednesday that 20,000 more U.S. military personnel "are now moving" towards Viet Nam and that a revolutionary air assault division is being formed at Fort Benning, Ga.

In Viet Nam Wednesday, the Viet Cong scored another ground victory by ambushing a convoy and shooting down a helicopter sent to relieve the convoy, while U.S. warplanes flew 170 bombing sorties against Communist positions in both North and South Viet Nam.

Mr. McNamara said the air assault division—first new type of division created since the Second World War when airborne units were organized—will be organized "and made combat ready as expeditiously as possible."

He also announced that six additional U.S. battalions and supporting troops are on their way to South Viet Nam.

Mr. McNamara said the additional U.S. strength had been requested by the South Viet Nam government and that the units "will be in place in a few weeks."

He said these reinforcements will bring the total U.S. military strength in Viet Nam to between 70,000 and 75,000 men, of which about 21,000 will be ground combat personnel.

24,000 THERE NOW

Mr. McNamara said nine U.S. battalions are already deployed in Viet Nam and that their 13,000 ground combat men are part of the 24,000 U.S. military personnel now in that country.

The Viet Cong hit a South Vietnamese government convoy 15 miles southwest of Saigon Wednesday while official attention centred on a terrorist bombing that injured 34 United States servicemen and at least 12 other persons at Saigon Airport.

A U.S. spokesman announced a large guerrilla force ambushed the convoy of about 40 militiamen and apparently captured a U.S. Army adviser marching with them, then shot down the U.S. helicopter sent to relieve the convoy.

Forget Past —Mike

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson said he hopes the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference opening today will concentrate on future solutions and not on past wrongs in its debate on the Viet Nam fighting.

The Canadian prime minister's plea came Wednesday night when he was joined in a BBC television appearance by Britain's Prime Minister Wilson, Malaysia's Tunku Abdul Rahman, Nigeria's Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa and Uganda's Milton Obote. (See also Page 5, 48.)

Asked by interviewer Robin Day what the 21-country conference might "say or do" about the bitter war involving the United States in Southeast Asia, Pearson replied:

PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT

"I hope it will avoid doing one thing, and that is to wrangle over who is primarily responsible for what has happened in Viet Nam, and that it will concentrate on what can be done to bring about a peaceful and negotiated settlement."

Pearson said the conference should look to the future rather than the past, and "I think there is a likelihood of something like that happening and of good results coming from it."

LITTLE CONFERENCE

The Canadian prime minister's carefully chosen words were typical of the TV discussion which, with its participants from around the world, was billed as a "little prime ministers' conference."

Twenty-one prime ministers, presidents and deputies, representing some 750,000,000 people, are scheduled to gather round a 48-foot oval table in Marlborough.

With Abortions, Contraceptives

By Ian Street

The population explosion has been reduced to manageable proportions in Japan.

It's the only Asian country and probably the only country in the world that can make this claim.

In Few Years

It's possible as a result that in the next few years the national family planning policy may have to be revised.

Dr. Tachi doesn't fit the stereotype of a world-renowned economist. His dark eyes snap with humor; he's articulate and voluble with an excellent command of English. Visiting to his rather drab fifth-floor government office often find him, as I did, coatless and wearing suspenders.

Yes, he admits, Japan is trying to discourage "a few greedy" gynaecologists who continue to counsel their patients to undergo induced abortions without proper cause.

Abortions

The International Planned Parenthood Federation estimated there are some 11,000 registered abortions in Japan. And despite the government's attempts to promote contraception as the more desirable method of family planning these doctors have a vested interest in keeping the status quo.

Dr. Tachi points out that induced abortions in Japan, which reached a peak in 1955 with 1,170,000 performed, have since dropped steadily each year to the 1964 figure of 930,000.

But the government would like to see this figure further reduced. A vigorous program of education in methods of contraception is getting startling results. A survey taken last May showed 52 per cent of eligible couples (where the wife is under 50) practise some form of birth control.

Birthrate Drops

The result has been a reduction in Japan's birthrate to 17 per 1,000 population compared with 26 per 1,000 in Canada.

Japan's rate of population growth has slowed to approximately one per cent a year. Despite this achievement the

Weathermen Widen Scope

Forecast: Cold, Baby Boy

By GEOFFREY ATKINS

Eighteen experts from 10 nations in a report to the World Meteorological Organization Wednesday said figures based on 1,000,000 individual statistics indicate that during periods of increased atmospheric — a thunderstorm for example —

Traffic accidents rise by 70 per cent, births by 11 per cent, deaths by 20 per cent, pains in chronic patients by 100 per cent, work accidents by 20 per cent, polio admissions by six per cent and mining accidents by 12 per cent. At the same time human reactions are six per cent slower.

Statistics also indicate a baby conceived in cold weather is more likely to be a boy, and in hot weather a girl, they reported.

The study pointed out these figures are based on statistics. But in studies of aspects of human behavior involving such things as traffic ac-
